BOW STREET HEARING UNFOLDS WIDESPREAD PLOT OF TERRORISTS

Prosecutor Relates Story of Plan to Shatter British Morale by Continuous Sabotage—Wide Range Of Destructive Activity Proposed Against Key Industries and Public Services

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP).—A Bow Street Court hearing produced a description today of what appeared to be the biggest plot to force British authorities out of Ireland since the anti-British violence of the twenties.

Twelve persons accused of complicity in a wave of bombings and sabotage which has swept Great Britain since mid-January were held for further hearing, February 14.

They hardly had left the courtroom when a mysterious telephone voice warned officials the Bow Street police court would be blown up

FREQUENT SEARCH

Police instituted a roof-to-floor search for explosives every half-hour. Other police guarded residences of the Royal Family, public buildings and vital services named as targets for bombs in the alleged plot.

The story of the alleged plot to shatter British morale by widespread and continued sabotage was related by the prosecutor at the Bow Street hearing.

The alleged plan, designated as "S," was attributed to the outlawed Irish Republican Army. It gave details of an ultimatum sent to Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax, threatening active intervention in Great Britain's military or commercial life unless British forces were withdrawn from Ireland. Bombings began January 16.

The prosecutor said the plan was discovered in a search of the house

BILL DESIGNED TO HELP POUND

Revaluation Measure Will Mark No Change in British Monetary Policy

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP-Havas).—By a show of hands the House of Commons passed on second reading tonight the Monetary Bill introduced by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir John Simon, designed to revaluate the Bank of England's gold reserves and strengthen the pound sterling.

In defending the bill, which provides for weekly revaluation of the bank's gold stocks, Sir John said this weekly "write-up" would be based on the current price of the metal and not on the statutory price of 85 shillings a fine ounce.

He also declared the bill would mark no change in the Government's monetary policy.

MORE FOR EXCHANGE FUND

The immediate result of the measure, he declared, would be to create a liquid fund of £95,000,000 in the bank's treasury which, after some deductions, would permit the bank to add £86,000,000 to the equalization exchange fund.

The volatile character of foreign capital temporarily invested in Britain forced the Government to take measures to protect the pound from either the influx or flight of money caused by political events, the treasury chief declared.

Capital that flows into Britain for security in times of stress was called "refugee money" by Sir John, who said this capital is more often a nuisance "rather than source of strength" to the country that receives it.

NATIONAL REGISTER URGED IN BERMUDA

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 6 (CP)—Governor Sir Reginald J. T. Hildyard in a message to the Legislative Assembly of this British colony suggested institution of what amounts to a national register of citizens, and asked whether the assembly felt such a step necessary. Population is 33,000.

WORK IS RESUMED

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP).—Work was resumed today on Montreal's long-delayed and much-discussed $12,600,000 Canadian National Railways Terminal, begun in 1930 and abandoned in 1931 at the height of the depression. About $3,000,000 has been allocated for 1939 construction.

GALE SWEEPS ALONG COAST

Many Roads in Northwest Closed—Power Lines Damaged

PORTLAND, Feb. 6 (AP).—Highways were closed, power facilities damaged and airway schedules canceled today as blizzards, rain and strong winds closed in on the Pacific Northwest.

Northern Idaho and Eastern Washington were blanketed by the heaviest snowfall of the season, measuring eight inches on the level and varying up to twenty inches. Eastern Oregon, where snow fell last night, reported heavy drifts following a wind reaching a velocity of fifty miles at Baker.

MAIN HIGHWAYS OPEN

Washington and Idaho main highways were open, but township roads were clogged with drifts, with more snow expected tonight and tomorrow.

Twenty inches of new snow, increasing the total to twelve feet, isolated Timberline Lodge on Mount Hood, Oregon, tonight. Rotary ploughs worked in an effort to bring out twenty guests.

The Klamath Falls district in South Central Oregon mobilized snow-fighting equipment as a blizzard howled over mountain roads. A slide at Mosier closed the Columbia River Highway, main artery to Eastern Oregon.

BUFFETED BY GALE

Western sections of Oregon and Washington from Seattle to Roseburg were buffeted by a southwest gale. Eugene and Roseburg reported power and communications systems out for a time.

Several Portland suburbs were without power for about three hours. Rain, mingled with snow, fell steadily on Western Oregon and threatened to turn into a heavy snowstorm.

Seattle saw an abnormally high thirteen-foot tide dash waves over the Alki seawall.

Big Holiday Camp Hit by Costly Fire

SKEGNESS, Eng., Feb. 6 (CP).—Fire swept Butlin's Holiday Camp in this Lincoln County resort town tonight, destroying a ballroom and beer garden valued at £20,000 ($100,000).

The fire was believed incendiary, but there was no immediate suggestion it was related to the recent outrages and alleged plots attributed to the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

Firemen, aided by 400 workmen, extinguished the flames before the remainder of the £100,000 Summer resort was involved.

HICCOUGHING IS FATAL

PUEBLO, Colo., Feb. 6 (AP).—Six days of constant hiccoughing ended fatally for John Lawler, fifty-two. He succumbed last night after once recovering from a similar siege which lasted twelve days.

Federal Loan Is Sought by City For Light Plant

Council Decides to Submit By-Law to Electorate, Asking Authority to Borrow $450,000 for Development of Goldstream Hydro-Electric Station and Lay Out Plant Site

FORMAL application will be made to the Provincial Government under the Municipal Improvements Assistance Act for a loan of $450,000 at 2 per cent from the Federal Government in order that the City Council may enter the light and power business by acquisition of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, Ltd., hydro-electric plant at Goldstream, the council decided last night on recommendation of the franchise committee.

Instructions were also given the city solicitor to prepare a by-law for submission to the taxpayers on the loan question. Under an agreement signed fifty years ago last June, the city is compelled to take over the Goldstream plant from the company at a price to be agreed upon by arbitration.

FAIL TO SIGN

Recommendations presented to the council last night were introduced to the franchise committee by R. W. Beck, public utilities adviser. The committee report was signed by every alderman except Aldermen R. A. C. Dewar and Archie Wills.

It was also decided at the meeting to establish "yardstick" electrical rates if, as, when and where the city has electrical energy for

NAZI OFFICIAL TOURING LIBYA

Italian Press Displays Ill-Feeling Against Britain Over London's Attitude

ROME, Feb. 6 (AP).—The chief of Chancellor Hitler's Storm Troopers, Viktor Lutze, started today on a tour to inspect Italian Libya's frontier with French-controlled Tunisia, as the Fascist press warned Great Britain that rejection of Italy's "natural aspirations" would result in a "violent situation."

"The British Government," said Il Giornale d'Italia after Prime Minister Chamberlain had reaffirmed Anglo-French solidarity in the House of Commons today, "knows very well that Fascist Italy intends to pursue her natural aspirations to their just realization.

"It is possible then to suppose the Government, and Mr. Chamberlain in particular, contemplate the alternative of a violent situation and collapse of all British home and foreign policy?"

The press also displayed ill-feeling toward Great Britain—for the first time in weeks—over London's "cavilling" reaction to Premier Mussolini's reported determination to keep his soldiers in Spain until the insurgents had won a "political" as well as a "military" victory.

Mr. Chamberlain's speech was not published here today, but diplomats, regarding it as the strongest British support given France since the Great War, felt certain it would be badly received.

FLYER ATTAINS TERRIFIC SPEED

Lands Safely After Diving Unconscious for Over Three Miles

SHREVEPORT, Feb. 6 (AP).—Unconscious, Second Lieut. Troy Keith, of Barksdale Field, today dived more than three and a half miles in a pursuit plane at a supposed speed of better than eleven miles a minute before recovering at 9,000 feet and landed safely.

His feat was revealed tonight by officers at the post.

Failure of his oxygen tank caused Keith to fall into the dive. His speed indicator had fixed itself permanently at 500 miles an hour. On that basis Barksdale officers figured his ultimate speed at 670 miles an hour, although pointing out that such terrific speeds are no more than "scientific guesses."

Lieut. Keith was none the worse for his experience. Shortly after landing his plane, he was back in the air with the 44th Pursuit Squadron for continuation of manoeuvres.

To friends who asked him how he felt when he found he had lost his oxygen, he said:

"I just didn't care about anything."

TERRIFIC DIVE

The terrific dive taken by Lieut Keith was in the same type of plane in which Test Pilot H. Lloyd Child, of the Curtiss-Wright Airplane Company, went hurtling downward at an estimated speed of approximately 575 miles an hour or more recently at Buffalo. Child made his dive deliberately from 22,000 feet, while Lieut. Keith started his descent at 28,000 feet.

Barksdale officers, experienced in aerodynamics, estimated that Lieut Keith's longer fall gave him what probably was the highest speed ever attained in an airplane by man.

FORCED TO CUT SPEECHES DOWN

Rules of House to Be More Strictly Enforced After Tense Debate

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Indication the rules of the House of Commons will be more strictly enforced in future came tonight as the atmosphere became tense during debate on the Bren gun contract.

So far during the present session the rule limiting speeches to forty minutes has been somewhat overlooked.

Tonight Dr. O. M. Young (Liberal, Saskatoon) objected as Denton Massey (Conservative, Toronto-Greenwood) asked for a few minutes over his forty minutes. Other voices were raised against Mr. Massey continuing and he took his seat.

SAYS RULE BROKEN

Then Prime Minister King said Mr. Massey had broken a rule by reading from newspapers. Mr. Massey retorted that several Liberal members had taken up much time reading "offensive" newspaper editorials and he objected to being singled out by the Prime Minister.

The next speaker was Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, who also spoke for forty minutes and was halted in the middle of a sentence by Conservative shouts of "order."

Kootenay Boy Fatally Hurt When Struck

KIMBERLEY, B.C., Feb. 6 (CP).—An inquest was ordered tomorrow into the death of James Stuart Douglass, fourteen-year-old boy from Chapman Camp, B.C., fatally injured when struck by a puck while acting as a goal judge during a hockey game last Friday.

Young Douglass was struck on the temple. He went home after the game, apparently suffering little from the blow, but complained of pain on Saturday. Taken to hospital, he died last night.

FLOOD RECEDING IN OHIO VALLEY

Thousands of Refugees in Kentucky And West Virginia Returning To Homes

CINCINNATI, Feb. 6 (AP).—The Ohio River dropped slowly from flood crests along nearly half its length tonight, while Weather Bureau assurance of a "big margin of safety" for Louisville, Ky., lifted fears in the lower valley.

Light scattered rain fell, but rehabilitation work went ahead as thousands of refugees in hardest-hit Eastern Kentucky and West Virginia returned to mud-strewn abodes.

The crest moved upon Cincinnati tonight, where the stream topped fifty-seven feet—five feet above flood—and crawled toward its indicated top tomorrow of fifty-eight to fifty-nine feet.

All points east of Vanceburg, Ky., reported a recession.

RECRUITING CAMPAIGN IS BRINGING RESULTS

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP-Havas).—Royal Air Force enrollments totaled 1,080 last week, the first time since the start of the R.A.F. recruiting campaign in which the 1,000 per week mark has been surpassed, it was officially announced today.

Seeks Cancellation Of Inglis Contract For 7,000 Bren Guns

Conservative Leader Says Deal Involves Political Patronage in Worst Form—Speaker Withholds His Ruling on the Motion

OTTAWA, Feb. 6 (CP).—Immediate cancellation of the Bren gun contract with the John Inglis Company, Limited, of Toronto, was sought in the House of Commons today by Hon. Robert Manion, Conservative leader.

The contract on a cost-plus basis given the Toronto firm without tenders for 7,000 Bren machine guns was described by Dr. Manion as involving "political patronage in its worst form."

Cancellation of the contract would not delay production of Bren guns, he said, if the plant were expropriated and the Inglis group compensated.

Reading at length from the report of Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, of the Supreme Court of Canada, who investigated the contract as a Royal commission, the Conservative leader declared that document constituted

EVENTS MOVE SWIFTLY TOWARD TERMINATION OF WAR IN SPAIN

Holing Golf Ball Is Easy as Making Money by Million

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa, Feb. 6 (CP-Reuters).—A keen-eyed man with greying hair joined a holiday crowd at a miniature golf course here. As the crowd looked on in astonishment he played the eighteen holes in eighteen strokes. Then he paid the sixpence fee and walked away. It was Lord Nuffield, Great Britain's open-handed multi-millionaire.

Guerrillas Carry on Hostilities

SHANGHAI, Feb. 6 (AP).—The Chinese-Japanese war in Central China has developed into a far-flung struggle between Japan and Chinese guerrilla forces, a Japanese army spokesman said today.

The Japanese were reported to have fought 200 engagements with a total of 50,000 guerrillas during January, killing 7,600 Chinese irregulars and capturing 288.

Chinese reports said the Japanese suffered 2,000 casualties in the past two weeks from irregulars.

SEES WAR END IN SIX MONTHS

Japanese Naval Attache Predicts Japan, China and Manchukuo in Bloc

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP).—Hostilities in the Far East should be concluded within the next six months, Commander Kazuyuki Yamazi said in an interview here today.

The commander left here tonight for Ottawa, where he will take over office of naval attache to the Japanese Legation.

"The war is so spread out that one cannot see clearly what is happening," the commander said. "But I think it will end soon, and Japan, China and Manchukuo will form a single bloc."

FOREIGN INTERESTS

He told interviewers that Japan's policy was one of respect for foreign interests in China and any apparent departure from that policy was due to the "accidents" of warfare.

For the past three years Commander Yamazi has been attached to the Japanese naval office at Tokio. Although he had never been here before, the commander was stationed off Victoria, fifteen years ago, as a lieutenant with the Japanese fleet which was then anchored off the Coast.

He said he had seen very few evidences of warfare and believed business in Tokio has been little affected by the drain on Japan's financial resources in the war with China.

DENIES OVERLAPPING IN AGRICULTURE WORK

COOKSVILLE, Ont., Feb. 6 (CP).—Hon. P. M. Dewar, Ontario Minister of Agriculture, denied in an address here tonight what he called the belief of the "average person" that there is great overlapping of the services of Federal and Provincial Agriculture Departments. The Dominion was allotted experimental farm work, the provinces the work of education and extension.

Government Reported Ready to Surrender in Return for Only "Moral Guarantees"—All Catalonia Abandoned to Insurgents—Unconditional Surrender Franco's Answer

Loyalists Pour Into France Pursued by Insurgent Army

PERPIGNAN, France, Feb. 6 (AP).—The Spanish Government was reported ready tonight to surrender its remaining one-fourth of Spain upon obtaining from the insurgents little more than "moral guarantees."

The Spanish Government Foreign Minister, Julia Alvarez Del Vayo, conferred tonight with the French Ambassador to Spain, Jules Henry, and the British Minister, Ralph Stevenson, in the police station at Le Perthus. From other diplomats it was learned they had discussed possibility of a Government surrender to insurgent General Franco and an end to the two-and-a-half-year-old civil war.

All Catalonia having been abandoned to the insurgents yesterday, events moved swiftly today. Tonight's meeting, concerning which all the principals remained silent, had been arranged earlier by Premier Juan Negrin, who later returned to Spain.

STAND IS CHANGED

From diplomats it was learned Premier Negrin's stand, which only yesterday was that the Government would fight to the bitter end in the Madrid-Valencia "island" in Central Spain, had changed during the day.

The Government was represented as willing to surrender upon receiving only these guarantees:

1. No reprisals against Government leaders who would fall into insurgent hands as a result of mass surrenders at Madrid, Valencia, Alicante and other centres of Government resistance.

2. Formal assurances by General Franco that all Italian and German influence would be banished from Spain by the insurgents.

The developments today followed five days of fruitless conversations

IS STANDING BEHIND ALLY

Chamberlain Pledges House That Great Britain Will Support France

LONDON, Feb. 6 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain pledged before a cheering House of Commons today that any threat to "the vital interests" of France would find Great Britain solidly behind her Great War ally.

His statement came on a day of swiftly moving developments in which Spanish insurgent authorities were reported reliably to have informed the British Government their peace terms were "unconditional surrender" of the Spanish Government.

A FRESH ATTEMPT

It was authoritatively disclosed earlier that Britain and France were making a fresh attempt to mediate the civil war.

The pledge of aid to France was made just one day after publication in Rome of indications that Premier Mussolini intends to keep his Italian troops in Spain after the end of the civil war, despite the promise to take them out at that time, if not earlier.

In what seemed a plain warning to Italy that she could not press her colonial claims against France

Give Up Hope Of Rescuing Eighty Men

TOKIO, Feb. 7 (AP). — Reliable quarters today said that the Japanese Admiralty had given up hope of saving the remaining eighty-one sailors and officers who went down with the submarine 1-63 in Bungo Channel on Thursday morning.

The navy announced yesterday that six had been rescued, but from authoritative quarters today it was learned the six were standing on the bridge of 1-63 when she collided with another submarine during manoeuvres 400 miles southwest of Tokio, they jumped over the side and swam to safety, it was said.

COLD IN EDMONTON

EDMONTON, Feb. 6 (CP).—A new 1939 low temperature of 24 degrees below zero was set here today, while a bitter north wind made it seem colder. Red Deer, 100 miles south of Edmonton, registered 25 degrees below zero.

HOPE TO SETTLE PALESTINE ROW

Arab and Jewish Conferences to Open Today—Face Complex Problem

LONDON, Feb. 6 (CP).—Malcolm MacDonald, Colonial Secretary, in a broadcast address tonight on the eve of Great Britain's newest attempt to induce Arabs and Jews to settle their Palestine feud, said "no problem is insoluble."

Mr. MacDonald, whose speech served as an official prelude to the opening tomorrow of Arab-Jewish conferences over the Holy Land, added "I admit, however, that this one is rather difficult. It is somewhat tough complexity is illustrated by the fact that tomorrow Mr. Chamberlain (the Prime Minister) will open two conferences instead of one."

REFUSE TO SIT WITH JEWS

Arab delegates to the conference have refused to sit with the Jews. The attempt to settle the bitter struggle for Palestine as a homeland will be made in conferences with both factions. Mr. Chamberlain will address the Arabs first. Later he will speak to the Jews at another meeting.

Under the "United States of Arabia" plan proposed to the Arab delegates, Palestine would be divided into two autonomous cantons, each having an autonomous government and the right to control immigration in its own area. Both cantons would be linked to a Federal Government under British mandate.

The two autonomous states would then be associated with other Arab states represented at the conference in an Arab Federation.

Fear Nine Men Lost In Purse Seine Boat Off Coast of Oregon

Craft Disappears in Sudden Violent Squall—Two Other Fish Boats Search in Vain For Trace of Vessel

ASTORIA, Ore., Feb. 6 (AP).—The purse seine boat Sonny Boy, of San Francisco, was believed to have gone down in the stormy Pacific off Yaquina Head, ninety miles south of here, early today with her crew of nine men.

She was captained by Martin Mirkovich, believed by fishermen here to be from Seattle.

The Sonny Boy, a sixty-eight-foot craft proceeding from San Francisco to Seattle, was accompanied by two other fish boats, the Wanderer and Bainbridge.

The two ran in here tonight to inform the coast guard of the apparent tragedy. They had no radio nor wireless aboard.

Captain Sam Mirkovich, Fort Blakeley, Wash., skipper of the Bainbridge, said the three boats, traveling in single file northward about fifteen miles off shore, were engulfed in a violent rain squall early this morning and were battered by a forty-six-mile wind.

When the weather cleared momentarily the Sonny Boy had disappeared. Mirkovich, who is a brother-in-law of the skipper of the Sonny Boy, told the coast guard here.

BRITISH AVIATOR BETTERS RECORD

Alex Henshaw Clips More Than Five Hours Off London-Capetown Mark

CAPETOWN, Feb. 6 (CP).—Exhausted twenty-four-year-old Alex Henshaw, British flyer, was assisted from his airplane today after a thirty-nine and one-half-hour flight from London to the south end of Africa, in which he clipped almost five and one-half hours off the existing record for the trip.

"I'm just a bit tired," the young Briton said. A short while later he was discussing plans for a take-off tomorrow for London with the intention of bettering the record for the two-way flight. He is flying in the Percival Mew Gull in which he won the Kings Cup last year.

The old record from London to Capetown was 4½ hours and 8 minutes, set in November, 1937, by Flying Officer A. E. Clouston and Mrs. Betty Kirby-Green.

Advocates Ministry For Co-ordination of Defence Facilities

Col. Wilfrid Bovey Says Canada Must Be Prepared So Essential Services Will Not Be Damaged by Sudden Action

TORONTO, Feb. 6 (C.P.).—Canada should perhaps consider establishment of a special ministry to work out plans for co-ordination of the nation's defence facilities in case of aggression, Col. Wilfrid Bovey, director of extra-mural relations of McGill University, Montreal, said here tonight.

No part of Canada would object to such preparation, said Col. Bovey in an address to the English-Speaking Union.

"It is not enough that our Federal Government organize for defence after war starts or even when war is imminent. One very good reason is that technical war may not, probably will not, start until some time after trouble begins.

MUST BE PREPARED

"We must be prepared so that our essential services, transportation, communication, power, cannot be seriously damaged by any sudden action. We must arrange such a potential expansion of our peace-time organizations that an emergency can be met quickly, calmly and efficiently."

An expansion and mobilization plan was essential for police, fire-fighting and hospital services.

Col. Bovey agreed with the statement that, as a matter of law, Canada is at war when Great Britain is at war. He also agreed that Canada might enact some provision to make her neutral. The same provision would make Great Britain neutral in case Canada were carried into a Pacific war by American action.

PURELY ACADEMIC

"All this discussion of neutrality is purely academic," he said. "In these unpleasant days we might as well be realistic, and we must consider not what we could do legally, but what other people would do illegally."

A power aiming at Great Britain "might scare Canada into that neutrality we are just talking about, and at the same time damage the British life lines of supplies and munitions" by attacking transatlantic shipping in Canada harbors and the St. Lawrence channel.

Saint John, Montreal and Quebec could be hit by airplanes brought near the coast on aircraft carriers or otherwise.

"Even if Canada were technically neutral, she would be subject to the same treatment if Great Britain could be damaged by destroying or holding up supplies and munitions."

Trustees Expect Estimates Will Be Ready on Monday

THE City School Board last night held its third committee session for the purpose of drafting the 1939 school budget. The estimates are required to be presented to the City Council by February 15, and Trustee Percy E. George, chairman, intimated last night that the budget will probably be ready for final confirmation by the board at the regular meeting next Monday night. No other business was dealt with by the trustees last night.

FEAR NINE LOST IN PURSE SEINE BOAT

Mirkovich said he entertained no hope that the craft had survived. The other two boats searched the vicinity for several hours, but found nothing, although they ran dangerously close to the rocky coastline. There was no place along that section of the littoral in which the Sonny Boy could have safely put in, he said.

NAMES OF MISSING MEN

Aboard the Sonny Boy were her master, Martin Mirkovich, Port Blakeley; Joe Pisasich, Hoquiam, Wash.; Matt and George Burain, San Pedro; M. Heares, Seattle; Tony Bisburich, Portland, and Phillip (last name unknown) of Seattle.

The coastguard cutter Onondaga immediately put to sea to begin a search after radioing other stations along the coast to check ports the craft might have reached.

to the point of war without bringing all the forces of Britain to France's aid, Mr. Chamberlain said in reply to a question based on a statement by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet, of France.

COMPLETE ACCORD

"According to my information, M. Bonnet's statement in the (French) Chamber of Deputies on January 26 was that in case of a war in which the two countries were involved, all the forces of Great Britain would be at the disposal of France just as all forces of France would be at the disposal of Great Britain.

"This is in complete accordance with the views of the British Government.

"It is impossible to examine in detail all the hypothetical cases which might arise, but I feel bound to make it plain that the solidarity of interest by which France and this country are united is such that any threat to the vital interests of France, from whatever quarter it came, must evoke the immediate co-operation of this country."

CAVALCADE TO COVER COAST

B.C. Automobiles Will Tour South For Provincial Week At San Francisco Fair

Near the end of June, possibly June 27, about 200 automobiles will leave from various points in British Columbia with their objective the fair at San Francisco. The scheme, which is intended to embrace the whole of British Columbia and will be known as the British Columbia Cavalcade, originated with the Vancouver Auto Club, and will advertise British Columbia en route.

Frank Bird, secretary of that club, was in Victoria yesterday, enlisting the co-operation of the Victoria Automobile Club and the Chamber of Commerce. The idea is to be on hand in force during British Columbia Week at the fair, July 1 to 8. Mr. Bird was well pleased with the co-operation promised here and is working on the other parts of British Columbia so as to make the action a provincial one. Premier Pattullo and other members of the Government will be invited to join in the cavalcade, while mayors and reeves from different centres will also be invited. Hon. W. J. Asselstine promised to assist in every way.

The American Auto Clubs through the A.A.A. are co-operating and will provide a highway state patrol throughout the coast drive. Special guides will take the visitors from British Columbia through the fair grounds and a pipe band from British Columbia is likely to lead the parade.

Victoria automobiles will join the cavalcade at Olympia, while the Interior cars will not join the party until Grant's Pass is reached.

First aid men and mechanics will accompany the party throughout. For the return trip the matter is left open. There will be varied classes of accommodation procurable, and members of the party will return as they wish. In San Francisco the fair management will entertain at luncheon or dinner with the A.A.A. assisting.

The cars will be decorated and will make a point to advertise British Columbia en route. Vancouver will have over 100 cars; Victoria is expected to have over fifty and the Interior well up to seventy-five.

sale. Minimum electric light bills would be 75 cents per month, with no charge for connections within 500 feet of feeder lines. For the first fifty kilowatt hours, a rate of 4 cents per kilowatt hour would be charged; the next 150 kilowatt hours at 2 cents per kilowatt hour, and all in excess at a rate of 1 cent per kilowatt hour.

As the second step, the council decided to establish an objective "yardstick" rate schedule to be reached within five years after inauguration of the initial schedule. Rates would start at 3 cents per kilowatt hour for the first fifty kilowatt hour for the first fifty quarters of a cent per kilowatt hour for consumption in excess of 150 kilowatt hours. There would be a minimum monthly bill of 50 cents, and no charge for connections within 1,000 feet of an established feeder line.

BILLS REDUCED

Figures presented to the council showed that a lighting bill of $1.50 under the present floor area plan would be reduced to 75 cents, $2 to $2.40 would become $1.20, $2.20 to $3 would become $1.50, $3.20 to $4 would become $2.50, $4.20 to $5 would become $3.50, and $9.20 to $10 would become $6.50.

In adopting the second step advocated by the franchise committee, the council agreed to dedicate a piece of property measuring 153 by 240 feet as a site for a proposed steam plant at the foot of Herald Street, fronting the Inner Harbor. It was decided to seek foreshore rights to the property, and to sell no city-owned waterfront property without the approval of the utility committee.

Step four, passed by the council, recommended that the present Goldstream plant be acquired from the B.C. Electric at a price not to exceed $19,200, and that a modern hydro-electric plant be constructed there. The step also called for plans and design of a 10,000 kilowatt steam plant, the building of a transmission line from Goldstream to the steam plant site with the necessary transformers, protective devices and other equipment, and the construction of feeder lines to serve schools and other municipal buildings.

EQUIPMENT GIVEN

It also called for the purchase and erection of line transformers, meters and supplies necessary to serve all municipal loads and an initial list of 700 customers within 1,000 feet along routes of the feeder lines, and provision of sufficient money to operate the system successfully.

During the discussion which followed adoption of the report, Alderman Archie Wills wanted to know if the 700 initial customers would be taxpayers or householders. He stated the council had no guarantee the B.C. Electric would reduce light and power rates if the city went into the same business.

He pointed out present rates were six and two cents per kilowatt hour, and suggested the council ask the B.C. Electric directly for a reduction to five and one cents. Even if voters approved of the city borrowing $450,000, he doubted whether the city would be able to secure that sum. On the other hand, it appeared the city might wait for two years before the newly-created public utilities commission dealt with an application for reduced rates.

URGES CAUTION

"It seems to me that for a meagre profit, the entire investment might be wiped out. Surely we should proceed with great caution after the past lessons of the woolen mill and the grain elevator," he concluded.

"We have tried to secure a reduction in light and power rates, but the B.C. Electric sat tight and said nothing," Mayor Andrew McGavin explained.

"We want lower rates, whether we get them from the B.C. Electric or our own plant," Alderman W. Lloyd Morgan added.

NO SATISFACTION

"Several times we asked the company about reductions. They might reduce the rate to four and one cents, or at least to the Vancouver charges. The only answer we received was that we might secure a slight reduction," Alderman Edward Williams remarked.

Also, as a recommendation of the franchise committee, the council agreed to inform the B.C. Electric that an annual rental of $6,000 must be paid for the privilege of connecting secondary current-carrying wires to city water mains, or else the wires must be removed.

Instructions were given the city engineer and solicitor to confer with the company superintendent and solicitor in an endeavor to make some arrangement for the payment of damage to city water mains by electrolysis.

A letter of thanks was ordered dispatched to Mr. Beck for his comprehensive reports on light, power and transportation questions.

Alderman Wills stated the public utilities commission would decide what rates the city was to charge if it entered the light and power business.

DOES NOT AGREE

Mayor McGavin replied: "They would not. Going into the power business is our last shot."

"I think this is a move in the right direction. We can still go to the public utilities commission and negotiate with the B.C. Electric. Now is the time for the company to give us their plans," Alderman S. H. Okell declared.

SHE WAS A VICTIM OF HEADACHES

Kruschen Got at the Cause

This woman's headaches were of the gripping kind that reduce the sufferer to something like helplessness. She tried tablets. She tried pills. All without avail. Only Kruschen could help her.

"I used to get very bad headaches," she writes. "No tablets or pills of any kind could relieve them. One morning, casually, I tried Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water. I continued taking it, but I have not had one of those awful headaches since. Kruschen suits me better than anything else. I find it very good." —(Mrs.) L.A.W.

Headaches can nearly always be traced to sluggishness of the kidneys, liver and intestines, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. The numerous salts in Kruschen stimulate the internal organs to healthy, regular action so that no clogging waste is allowed to collect. Your inside is kept clean and serene. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings quick and lasting relief from headaches.

ENLISTING OF ALL FAVORED

Speakers at Gyro Club Advocate Assigning of Citizens to Varied Duties

The advantages of having a voluntary military registration in the country was put before the Gyro Club yesterday by two speakers, Dr. William Newton, of the Experimental Station at Sidney, and Capt. C. R. Wilson, Sidney. Both speakers stressed the importance of having available the enlistments so that the individuals could be assigned to the branches of service during war time for which they were especially adapted. The system is now in operation in Great Britain and is reported to be working out well.

Owing to the limited time at the disposal of the speakers, Capt. Wilson, as second speaker, was obliged to curtail his address. He gave information that many clubs in Sidney had endorsed the idea and were petitioning for the adoption of the system. The service clubs in Victoria had been asked to discuss the subject and the ex-service men's organizations in Victoria and elsewhere had endorsed the scheme.

SUPPORTS SCHEME

Dr. Newton said there was no excuse necessary in moving for the adoption of the plan in this country. He alluded to the fact that Canadians should not look to the Mother Country doing all in defence of the Empire. A type of registration was suggested for the Department of National Defence.

Peace was desired, but the country must face the fact that it might have to fight. In connection with hostilities, scientific men were in a position to know what could be done in this line and their services should be so used.

Captain Wilson said that the country had to depend upon its citizens for defence. Every one, according to his ability and training should be available in time of need. Properly organized for war, the country could on occasion win wars by propaganda.

The Newlyweds had bought a turkey for dinner on Christmas Day, and, as Newlywed was a novice at carving, his wife insisted on his learning how to carve from the cookery book so that he should not display his ignorance before the guests. When the turkey appeared on the table, however, the host was plainly at a loss how to begin. "Why don't you carve, dear?" his wife asked anxiously. "You know exactly how it is done." "Of course I do, love," said Newlywed, "but I can't find any of the dotted lines."

Officers of Duncan Junior Chamber of Commerce Installed

E. H. Harris and Thomas Watkins, Victoria, Preside at Induction of Up-Island Leaders—Mayor Greig Addresses Gathering

DUNCAN, Feb. 6.—The Duncan Junior Chamber of Commerce observed the passing of its first milestone in the United Church Hall here tonight, with the installation of officers for the current year. Officers of the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce installed the Duncan leaders, while Mayor James Greig attended and addressed the gathering.

Ernest H. Harris, provincial director of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce and past-president of the Victoria organization, and Thomas Watkins, another former president of the Victoria group, represented the Capital City. Mr. Harris installed Jack Dobson, newly-elected president of the Duncan Junior Chamber, and Mr. Watkins installed the vice-president, James M. Sutherland.

The affair was the first annual dinner of the local group and was attended by a large number of Duncan members, in addition to the Victoria delegation. A. Whan, retiring president, was in the chair and introduced the guests.

TRIUMPHAL ARCH

After congratulating the organization on its accomplishments during its first year of service in Duncan, Mayor Greig told of the plan which he had placed before Mayor Andrew McGavin, of Victoria, to have a triumphal arch, erected by Duncan, along the route of the procession of the King and Queen. If the scheme went through, he said it would be a noteworthy undertaking if the junior chamber would sponsor the arch and make a public appeal to have it constructed.

Mayor Greig also dealt briefly with municipal government and stated he was pleased to see the younger men stepping in ready to take hold. He suggested the chamber might also sponsor a paint-up and clean-up campaign and try and induce citizens to tidy up their property and vacant lots.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR

In his report of the initial twelve months' operations of the organization, Mr. Whan traced a year of several successful accomplishments. One project, a park and playground on the highway, north, was still receiving the attention of the chamber. The meeting decided to hold a telephone bridge to raise money to defray certain expenses in connection with this undertaking. The retiring officer also expressed his thanks to all those who had assisted him during his term of office. G. Prevost, secretary, was introduced and gave a report on the group's financial condition.

Mr. Dobson, after his induction into office, said the chamber was indebted to Duncan and should help the city out whenever possible. He paid tribute to the work of Mr. Whan and stated the body intended to put Duncan on the map. J. P. MacMillan, secretary of the Duncan Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly and also introduced Mayor Greig to the meeting. Greetings of the local Kinsman Club were conveyed by T. Kilpatrick, president.

Entertainment was provided by Herbert Whan, accordion solos; A. Martinich, impersonations; Kenneth Berger, songs, and a quiz contest conducted by J. Sutherland and S. Banner. Eric Green was accompanist.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP).—Production of the Sheep Creek Mine during January was valued at $83,270 from 4,585 tons of ore, company officials announced today. The figures were slightly lower than last month.

JURY FREES CAR DRIVER AT INQUEST

Verdict of Accidental Death Is Returned in Case of Mrs. Quayle

RECOMMEND PATH BE IMPROVED BY CITY

Accidental death was the verdict returned yesterday by a coroner's jury under Dr. E. C. Hart, inquiring into the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Jane Quayle, seventy-seven, 2829 Shelbourne Street.

Mrs. Quayle passed away at the Jubilee Hospital last Friday as the result of injuries received on the night of January 22 when knocked down on Shelbourne Street, near Kings Road, by an automobile in charge of Donald McLean, 126 Hawe Street.

A rider was added by the coroner's jury suggesting that the city repair the existing gravel sidewalk near the scene of the accident so that it would be used by pedestrians.

In testifying at the inquest, Dr. A. C. Sinclair stated that Mrs. Quayle died as the result of a fracture on the right side of the skull, injured brain on the left side, fractured vertebrae, fractured ribs on both sides and a compound fracture of the right leg.

IN GOOD HEALTH

James Quayle, husband of the deceased, declared she had been active, in good health, and possessed of good sight and hearing. He said she left the house about 8 o'clock on the night of January 22 to post a letter two blocks away, at the southwest corner of Shelbourne Street and Kings Road. He stated the sidewalk on Shelbourne Street was in very poor condition.

Constable Alex Nichol told the jury he found Mrs. Quayle lying in front of Mr. McLean's automobile, three feet from the west edge of Shelbourne Street and fifty-five feet and six inches from the Kings Road intersection. He found her glasses in a ditch sixty-nine feet away, and a skid mark on the road twenty-two feet long.

Upon examining the automobile, he noticed the right side headlight pushed back, a dent in the right fender, and signs of the contact of a body with the engine hood. The constable said the street was wet, brakes on the car were in good condition, and the deceased had been wearing dark clothing.

DESCRIBES MISHAP

Miss Eileen Clarke, a passenger in the car, related that Mr. McLean was proceeding south along Shelbourne Street about 8:30 o'clock. She heard him suddenly draw his breath and swing sharply to the left as a pedestrian appeared in front of the car with her back to the machine. Miss Clarke did not feel the car strike anything, nor did she notice a skid.

Mr. McLean told the jury he was not driving more than twenty-five miles per hour, between five and six feet from the edge of the road. He dimmed his lights for a passing automobile, but the other car failed to follow suit. After the ensuing glare, he suddenly noticed a woman about fifteen feet in front of his car. He jammed on his brakes and swerved to the left, but the right side of his machine struck the pedestrian. He said she was dressed in a black coat, and the road surface was the same color after a recent fall of rain.

INSTRUCTS JURY

In addressing the jury, Dr. Hart stated: "Unless you consider there has been gross carelessness, it will not be your duty to indict anyone. It is unfortunate so many elderly persons become involved in automobile accidents. They grew up in the days when traffic was not so dense."

After deliberating for twenty-seven minutes, the jury returned and asked Mr. McLean how far Mrs. Quayle was from the edge of the road when he first sighted her. He replied about eight or nine feet.

Members of the jury were: Johnstone Barr (foreman), Gilbert H. L. Brownett, Ambrose S. Matthews, George Hepworth, Francis C. J. Mealing and Harold A. Hunt.

He is survived by his widow and four daughters, Mrs. W. Herbert Bate, Mrs. Harold Kneen and Mrs. Percy Kneen, all of Nanaimo, and Mrs. C. Grafton, of California, who reached her father's bedside before he passed away; also one son, W. Rowan, of Seattle.

The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Jenkins Chapel.

A BLUNDER

The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is going to find it difficult to live down the ban it placed on Mr. George C. McCullagh, publisher of The Globe and Mail of Toronto. The talks which he was prohibited from making on the national network, but for which he has succeeded in securing greater publicity, deal with national economy. There is nothing subversive in them. He is simply giving viewpoints on what is a problem that is obviously one of a vital kind, a problem that should be engaging the attention of politicians from one end of the country to the other. No excuse whatever that will hold water has been advanced by the C.B.C. for its arbitrary action. The defence made by the Minister of the Government who is responsible for national broadcasting was one of ignorance of what was happening.

Newspapers throughout the country have been commenting on the case, and there are few that are ready to defend this attempted curtailment of the liberty of speech. It cannot be defended by the newspapers, for such a course would be tantamount to a denial of the freedom of the Press. The outcome of the arbitrary action of the C.B.C. will, perhaps, be the subject of a parliamentary inquiry, as it should be. It is desirable, by safeguards provided for the future, to re-establish whatever prestige the broadcasting corporation enjoyed. Many believe it should be abolished. The Labor Leader of Toronto regards it as another tax burden; says it has only a minority of Canadian listeners, and points out that at times many Communistic speeches disguised as debates are heard over C.B.C.-sponsored programmes. The publication says:

"Mr. McCullagh is just a healthy, clean-living young Canadian, who believes, and has a lot of faith, in the future of his country. He is a loyal Britisher, who firmly believes in British democratic institutions, and wants to see his beloved Canada grow to a prosperous maturity within the Commonwealth of British nations, and so, in their wisdom the C.B.C. had decided that Mr. McCullagh cannot express his views because he is in a position to pay for the privilege, but it is all right for any exponent of the 'isms to go on the air with debates sponsored by the C.B.C. and paid for out of the taxpayers' money."

EDUCATION AND LEISURE

Most people engaged in active life look forward with keen anticipation to a time when they will be able to carry out at leisure some long-contemplated project of congenial work or study. They think with pleasure of the prospect of turning aside from the affairs of business or professional life to make an excursion into another and more attractive field. The success they already have achieved in their own proper trade or calling naturally gives them confidence to set out upon this new adventure. It may be a mere hobby, like collecting rare coins or books or pictures, or it may be a serious study of some branch of science like botany. Few retired men of business devote themselves to the study of mathematics as a pastime. Perhaps their acquaintance with that difficult subject does not extend much beyond the multiplication table and a few half-remembered notions about circles and triangles. Elementary scientific experiments are all very well in their way, but to achieve anything worth while one needs something more than mere curiosity. Training and practice are equally necessary, along with a high degree of intelligence.

It is notorious that men with monetary or Socialistic bees in their bonnets, and some leisure at their disposal, may become keen on economics and eagerly search the works of the great authorities for anything that seems to furnish support for their pet theories. Such persons, pursuing their researches with the zeal of a partizan rather than with the leisurely detachment of the unprejudiced student, no doubt have their reward.

A professional teacher of philosophy at Oxford, Mr. C. E. M. Joad, says that an astonishing number of people, "successful men of the world who have achieved wealth, eminence, and power by virtue of being hard-headed practical men with no nonsense about them," undertake not only to study philosophy, but even to write about it and frame ambitious and comprehensive philosophical systems. He says that it has come to his lot, as the author of a good many philosophical books, to be consulted by a number of such men. He has been asked many times to read their manuscripts, and has found that their attempts to solve philosophical problems and construct philosophical systems have invariably turned out to be disappointing to the last degree. What they have had to say about life and the universe has been, in Mr. Joad's opinion, just nothing at all.

Now there is really nothing very astonishing in the fact that men who do not take up seriously the study of philosophy until past middle life should not be able to bring much valuable original thought to their task. Little original work has been done in science or mathematics except by those who have devoted long and arduous years to these subjects. Nevertheless, the fact that middle-aged beginners in philosophy, when they undertake to write upon philosophical problems, usually write a good deal of balderdash, moves Mr. Joad to offer an explanation of the fact, and also a word of advice to prospective students of fifty.

He mentions some of the qualifications of the philosopher. Chief among these are that he must have some knowledge of the thought of the past; he must be able to think, and he must be able to express himself with clearness. In short, he must study the history of philosophy, have a rigorous training in logic, and a gift of exposition, cultivated by practice. Although these disciplines do not constitute a "royal road" to truth, they will prove effective in preventing the beginner from hopelessly wandering about in many by-roads of error.

These are important qualifications, and the last-mentioned is one which even some lecturers in philosophy do not possess. Philosophy has accumulated a great variety of obscure terms which are stumbling-locks to many. Indeed, the unnecessary technicality of some of these terms has aroused the suspicion that some teachers of philosophy wish to create the impression that philosophy is something so abstract, mysterious, and occult that it is not worth their while to use plain language and let their auditors know exactly what it is that they are trying to say.

HOW TO AVOID COLDS

Imperial Airways say: "Our pilots never catch cold. We believe this is due to being in the uncontaminated air." This is corroborated by an official of the Royal Dutch Airline, who points out that "if you were flying over the sea every day from Croydon to Amsterdam you would find the fresh air kept you in perfect health; no colds, no influenza, and no days off because of minor ills." The discovery of this way of avoiding colds dates back to the Great War, and is credited to Dr. Rene Vuillemin, who was then with the French Air Force. He says he made the discovery by mere chance when he was attending Gunyemer, who was a dying man when the Germans invaded France in 1914. Gunyemer was suffering from an acute form of consumption. He took up flying. Although supposed to have only three month to live "he lived for three and a half years, suffered numerous wounds, and died gloriously in action, after being awarded the highest decorations for valor."

There is corroboration from many quarters that flying is one of the healthiest of pursuits. A doctor of the Royal Air Force says: "I have found the flying personnel of the R.A.F. singularly free from the common cold and such ailments. I put this down to the fact that the relatively low pressure of the flyer's atmosphere makes him use the whole of his lung capacity." The advice of Captain Olley, the first man to fly 1,000,000 miles, is "Get up into the sky and all your ailments will vanish." No authority says how much flying is necessary to obtain immunity from the common cold, or how it is possible for that immunity to be brought within the reach of all.

Talk in Parliament costs the taxpayers $58 an hour, and Members revel in the expenditure. Research work in the use of the telephone has established Canadians as the most talkative people on earth. Parliament bears this out, and national broadcasting is swiftly climaxing our claim to this notoriety.

Bureaucrats were described by William Cobbett as "tax-eaters." If he had lived in these days he would have seen their name becoming legion.

THE LAKE ISLE OF INNISFREE

I will arise and go now, and go to Innisfree,
And a small cabin build there, of clay and wattles made;
Nine bean rows will I have there, a hive for the honey bee,
And live alone in the bee-loud glade.

And I shall have peace there, for peace comes dropping slow,
Dropping from the veils of the morning to where the cricket sings;
There midnight's all a-glimmer, and noon a purple glow,
And evening full of the linnet's wings.

I will arise and go now, for always night and day
I hear lake water lapping with low sounds by the shore;
While I stand on the roadway, or on the pavements grey,
I hear it in the deep heart's core.

Note and Comment

By Sandham Graves

The eye of an artist and the tongue of a poet contributed last week to a description of "Snow White's Country," published in The Rossland Miner, over the signature of G. G. Woodhams, news editor. Between tall conifers, feathered down in snow, is shown the valley of the Columbia and the Winter scene—"where Nature wields her master brush to tint gaunt rolling barriers of rock and trees, and lend them that air of majestic beauty and strength which marks great sweeps of landscape or the sea." It is a picture, writes Mr. Woodhams, "hoary with age and frost, where man is almost an intruder." Gold and crimson-streaked sunrise "gave fleeting glimpses of the Selkirks, where the sun polished their rambling tiered flanks," and turned them into a flashing, scintillating sea. Snow White may never have heard of Kirkup and the Valley of the Columbia; but one feels with Mr. Woodhams that she would certainly have liked them. Anybody would. Not only was it a picture, but it was pictorially written; part of a sound and constructive force which by love and faith in Canada one day will present us with a Canadian literature for which no one need apologize. Victoria, loving beauty, can say so to Rossland in all sincerity; and for my part I do.

Paddy Wirehair chases cats! He has been warned not to do it. He has been told that it is reprehensible in a well-trained dog. He has been informed, by word of mouth, that cats are unreliable creatures. He has been made acquainted, through sundry scratches on the nose and clawmarks on his cheeks, with the ability of cats to retaliate. None of which serves to stop Paddy Wirehair chasing cats. It was not until yesterday, however, that this column realized that dogs have the equivalent of four-wheel brakes. As the thing happened in front of me, I am in a position to testify accurately on the point. A large cat, a cat with a determined face, and large, sharp claws, whirled in front of the dog, and waited—with the left paw cocked. Paddy Wirehair, who had been running with his ears flying, his legs stretched out, and his body low to the ground, applied his emergency set. His reaction fraction may have been decimal one four seven; but it could not have been any more. I watched the manoeuvre closely. First his ears went back. Then the hair seemed to flow aft along the back of his body, followed by a pronounced ripple of muscles, all moving back. All four feet came out stiff and straight in front, like pine boards held at an angle of forty-five degrees. Paddy Wirehair stopped, an inch short of that waiting left, with its gleaming claws. Then, of course, the dog pretended it had all been a mistake; that he would not dream of chasing any cat, let alone such a fine, handsome, sleek and well-groomed member of the strong-minded tribe. But the skid-marks belied him. They measured three and a quarter inches, from start to finish; on all four brakes, as it were. And that with a reaction fraction of less than two-tenths of one second! The cat sniffed audibly, and made a magnificent retreat with every hair standing. Some day, I told the dog, his four-wheel brakes won't serve; but he only shook his legs, enough as to say they were the very latest model.

Work may be set to music, yet. For instance, longshoremen on one Brooklyn pier, according to The New York Times, perform their tasks to the relayed orchestras of the leading restaurants and hotels. Unfortunately they must take the music as it comes; no provision yet for hot music on a cold day, or slow music on a rush job. But the plan has possibilities. If one could match the music to the mood, it would have great possibilities. Tax collectors could fittingly employ pipers. Dentists could choose something slow and soothing, like an organ. Laurel and Hardy had a ready-made programme for paper-picker-uppers. A spirited march would go well with buying shoes. Pay-day at the factory would know the home waltz. Policemen on point duty would be heavensent opportunities for a sprightly reel. Think what it would do to your life, setting it to music. The trouble, however, will be to find the music, real music. Fancy an Executive Council swinging it, while it passes orders-in-council; or City Fathers fox-trotting in to hear a thirty-page report from the Board of Health. Or can you fancy it?

WORLD AFFAIRS ARE REVIEWED

Captain Elmore Philpott Addresses Ministers on European Outlook

At the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association of Victoria held yesterday morning at the Y.W.C.A., Captain Elmore Philpott gave an informal talk on the outlook in world affairs with special reference to Europe.

He pointed out that during the past twenty years the old system of nationalism under which each nation was a law unto itself had received a sharp challenge in the sudden rise of extreme types of nationalistic states such as Germany and Italy. These emphasize the improbability that nationalism such as we have had in the past will ever work again. Conditions have changed because of three important factors in modern world life.

There is no further room for great expansion such as the past four centuries saw and which led to European colonies on all the other continents. Then the competition for the existing fields of exploitation is much greater today because of the arrival of three late-comers, Germany, Italy and Japan. Of these, Capt. Philpott showed that the first two have only quite recently become "nations"; the German Empire dating from the Franco-Prussian War and the Kingdom of Italy from the Garibaldi wars of deliverance. Japan's arrival as a competitor began with her enforced contact with Western civilization at the hands of the United States.

THE THIRD FACTOR

The third factor was the changed method of producing goods which, through mechanical inventions, had brought us to mass production with its inevitable effects on all our institutions. War itself was now no longer what it was in the past when participation or non-participation was largely a matter for the individual's decision. It was a matter of vital public concern which threatened not the soldier alone but the whole civilian population. In the limited field of the present Spanish civil war, some 2,000,000 had been killed or wounded, and of these a large proportion had been women and children. This situation was a direct challenge to the Christian Church, which in the storm of these new forces was threatened with extinction, unless it assumed a united and militant attitude.

Capt. Philpott reviewed the conditions which had led to the rise of the national-socialist governments emphasizing particularly the terms of the Versailles Treaty with its impossible war indemnities and its equally impossible redistribution of European boundaries. All efforts for peace were hindered by the millstone of an unjust settlement. Weakened by the disillusionments of the years since 1918 and the tearing up of treaties admittedly good, such as that of Locarno, the nations were all the more called upon to set up an international system of law and order.

The question was whether that system was to be based on force or upon a Christian foundation of understanding and good will. At present the Christian churches were liable to feel themselves helpless passengers on the ships of nationalism. One great service Mr. Chamberlain had done by his direct dealing with foreign dictators in their own centres he had made a direct appeal and impression on the peoples of those countries, and "we have to realize that at bottom the ordinary people of Germany and Italy are like ourselves anxious for peace and for law and order."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily Colonist, of February 7, 1889

May 24 Celebration—A meeting should be called at once to consider the question of securing the presence of the celebrated oarsmen on May 24. It would be the means of attracting thousands to our city, and advertising it all over the continent. Five thousand dollars should be raised, and a magnificent programme of attractions prepared. It would be money well spent. Let the Mayor call a meeting of all who are willing to work for a successful two or three-day celebration, and there is certain to be a hearty response. There is no place on the Coast so well adapted for such events as proposed, and the matter should be taken in hand at once. The benefit to the city would be immense.

Marine Notes — Steamship San Mateo is at Departure Bay taking on a cargo of 4,500 tons of Wellington coal for San Francisco. As soon as the Union Mines are ready to ship coal, this steamship will ply between those mines and the Bay City. Ship Glory of the Seas completed her cargo of 2,350 tons of Vancouver coal on Tuesday, for San Francisco, and was towed to sea yesterday by the American tug Sea Lion . . . Sealing schooner Mary Taylor, Captain Petit, will leave for the West Coast today on a sealing trip. The schooner will return about May 1, when she will again start on a cruise to the Bering Sea.

Kennel Club—Several gentlemen interested in the formation of a kennel club met at the office of C. W. R. Thomson yesterday afternoon. Among those present were Messrs. A. Jones, R. E. Jackson, W. T. Drake, C. W. R. Thomson, F. G. Walker, T. B. Hall, H. F. Clinton, N. P. Snowden and G. Perrin.

The Observation Car

By THE EDITORIAL STAFF

From the Touchlines

Varsity's ruggers were really all steam Saturday against Victoria's Crimson Tide and were full value for their 16-6 triumph over the locals. . . . Victoria, with two victories in as many starts in "Big Three" play, were heavy favorites to defeat the Students and regain possession of the historic McKechnie Cup, but they looked anything but a championship squad Saturday. . . . Johnny Bird, Varsity fullback, turned in a grand performance, and on his exhibition is in a class by himself in that berth. He outkicked Grogan, local fullback, and dropped a field goal and scored a try just to complete the day's chores. . . . The only person we met after the game who had a good word for the Victoria "Reps" was Referee E. L. "Buck" Yeo, Vancouver, who told us that the local players were "real gentlemen." . . . When it comes to place kicking, Jack Grogan, teen-aged Victoria fullback, takes the orchids. Grogan has taken thirteen kicks and converted ten, a splendid average. He has scored twenty-five of Victoria's forty-seven points.—S.T.

Glancing Over Sport

Missed only one selection last Saturday and, that above of all things had to be the important McKechnie Cup Rugby game between Varsity and Victoria. An old-time Rugby star told me that Victoria lost the game for one reason only—far too confident of repeating that easy win in Vancouver earlier in the season. . . . Westerns, Canadian cage champions, beat Varsity just the other night by two points and the Dominoes trimmed them in a rugged game here Saturday by fourteen. Wonder if that will mean anything when the important British Columbia play-offs come along, starting on St. Patrick's Day in Vancouver. . . . After seeing the soccer game Saturday at Heywood Avenue I would advise the parks board to make a hurried trip to the field with the biggest steam roller and level off the pitch. The ball did funnier tricks than ever, which made the players look extremely foolish at times as they attempted to control it. . . . Jimmy Todd, Victoria pro, travelling with the touring shotmakers through the south, continues to march down the fairways with Dame Misfortune. He shot an 81 in the first round of the Phoenix, Arizona, $3,000 open, thirteen shots behind the joint leaders. . . . Another big publicity stunt: Tony Galento refusing to shake hands with Champion Joe Louis in the ring the other night. Joe may remember that little instant if the pair ever clash.—J.D.

Gone Are the Days

When we were a very small boy, street cars charged five cents per ride, and were fairly quiet, spic and span and steady on their wheels and track. Then in the 20's, the fare was increased to six cents because the operators asked for higher pay. Now that the venerable vehicles show definite signs of senile decay and increased noise, both to ears and radio sets, might it not be in order to decrease the fare? . . . Also since our youth, methods of painting houses have visibly changed. We can remember painters in the Old Country carefully burning and scraping off paint before applying new coats. Twice last week we saw two white clothed "brush splatterers" diligently slapping on paint over dirt and cobwebs. One can imagine how long a coat of paint would last under those circumstances. Fortunately automobiles are not painted the same way, otherwise we should not have had the same coat of paint on our jalopy for eight years. . . . Undoubtedly the new lemon and black license plates give many cars a look of distinction, but the novelty will soon wear off.—G.B.

Planting Begins

Having plucked flowers all through the Winter months, Victoria amateur gardeners are now entering upon the planting for the coming season. Already the stores have stocked up with flower seeds reminding lovers of gardens that the time has arrived when attention must be paid to the starting of the plants that will be welcomed in a few weeks in the beds.—O.H.N.

According to Culbertson

Question 32 of the recent examination was designed especially to trap players who do not respond properly to opening two-bids. It had come to my attention that a few players scattered throughout the country had been experimenting with an immediate ace-showing response to any opening two-bid in a suit. For months previous to the exam I had written strong and (I felt) conclusive arguments against this practice, and I was anxious to determine whether it had gained any real foothold. To my relief, the 20,000 answers that reached me proved that my fears were groundless. Less than one-tenth of one per cent gave two spades as the correct response in question 32, which was:

With both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeded:

North	East	South	West
2 ♥	Pass	?

You are South and hold:

♠ A 6 3 ♥ 7 5 ♦ J 6 5 2 ♣ 9 5 3 2

What call do you make?

The correct answer was, of course, that South should make the negative response of two no trump, despite the fact that he held an ace and a jack. A few hundred contestants thought that South's hand was worth a positive jump response to three no trump, but at least 97 per cent answered correctly. This speaks well for the general caliber of play, because responding to an opening two-bid is at once one of the most difficult and most important departments of bidding.

TODAY'S HAND

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♠ K 6 2
♥ K Q 8
♦ A K 7 4
♣ 9 5 3

WEST
♠ 9 7 5

♦ Q 8 5 2
♣ K Q J

EAST
♠ 8 4 3

♦ J 10 6 3
♣ 10 7 4

SOUTH
♠ A Q J 10
♥ A 10 6 5
♦ 9
♣ A 8 6 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 NT	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

South's bidding was overly aggressive. First, he made a jump take-out with only a shade better than three and one-half honor tricks on a four-card suit. Actually, he should have had a strong rebiddable suit inasmuch as he had no fit with partner. His subsequent use of the 4-5 no trump convention added insult to injury: It is bad enough to stretch once on a hand; the least a player can do is to "back-water" thereafter.

Due to a perfect lay of cards, however, South was able to fulfill the optimistic contract. West opened the club king. Declarer won and counted tricks. By ordinary play he could see only four spades, four hearts (if the heart jack dropped), two diamonds, and one club—one trick short. He would not be able to ruff a club in dummy except by fatally giving up two club tricks. Nor could he hope to discard one of dummy's clubs on his own fourth heart because, to do so, he first would have to draw dummy's trumps, along with the opponents'. There was only one chance. A diamond was led to dummy, and the ace and king were cashed (declarer discarding a club). The low diamond was ruffed. A low heart was led to the queen and dummy's first diamond was ruffed. The ace and queen of spades were cashed, and another low heart put dummy back on lead. The spade king now was cashed and to declarer's delight, drew the last outstanding trumps together, declarer discarding a club. A heart to the ace now dropped the jack and the heart ten was cashed for the twelfth trick.

The overbid contract had succeeded in this instance, but I doubt that that particular declarer will get rich with such bidding methods. Perfect breaks in three suits do not occur very often!

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height are of distinguish him water from low water. Where two occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of low water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

CONCRETE

Two laborers were talking. "Say, Bill," said one, "you had more schooling than I had. What's the difference between abstract and concrete?"

Bill scratched his head. "Well, Joe," he said slowly, "if my wife promises to make a cake, it's abstract. When she makes it, it's concrete!"

Council Discusses Various Views on Removal of Trees

Alderman Fails to Recall Any Definite Policy—City Engineer Claims Some Trees Do Not Interfere With Sewers and Drains

DECIMATION of boulevard trees occupied considerable debate at a City Council meeting last night. The matter was brought to a head by a letter from Harold E. Landman, 941 Mears Street, who complained of the wanton destruction of boulevard trees and the loss of the city's beauty. His communication was referred to the parks committee for study.

Alderman John A. Worthington heartily agreed with the sentiments expressed by Mr. Landman. He stated trees were one of the city's greatest assets.

Alderman S. H. Okell, parks committee chairman, declared the group was merely carrying out a policy laid down by a past council in regard to thinning out trees. Alderman W. H. Davies thought the tree-thinning question might be placed before the citizens.

Alderman Archie Wills could not remember any tree policy being laid down by any council. Alderman B. J. Gadsden declared the council should not act contrary to the wishes of the people. Alderman Edward Williams stated the city engineer should be consulted in tree removal plans to ascertain whether they were blocking sewers and trains.

SEVERE PRUNING

Alderman R. A. C. Dewar wanted to know if it was necessary to prune some boulevard trees so severely. He had been told that heavy top pruning caused the roots to descend and thus damage pipes.

"Through you, Mr. Mayor, I want to ask the city engineer if trees cut down in the past few months interfered with sewers and drains," Alderman Williams queried.

"Lots of trees that did not interfere with sewers and drains were cut down. Some trees were removed when taxpayers wished to construct concrete sidewalk crossings for their automobiles," the engineer replied.

JOINS EXECUTIVE

Mayor Andrew McGavin accepted an invitation to become a member of the executive of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

Alderman B. J. Gadsden asked for a ruling on whether a member of the council was able to attend a meeting of any committee of which he was not a member. The city clerk explained the alderman could, although he must not vote or take part in the debate.

A request from the British Columbia Agricultural Association for a grant of $2,158 to carry out painting and repairs at the Willows Park was referred to the estimates committee. A letter from R. W. Beck informed the city that Eugene, Oregon, had inaugurated a lighting rate of 4 cents per kilowatt hour for the first fifteen kilowatt hours, 1.7 cents per kilowatt hour for the next twenty-five kilowatt hours, and a minimum bill of 60 cents per month.

NEW INSPECTOR

The franchise committee was asked to deal with a letter from Mrs. L. Mackenzie, complaining of inadequate transportation on Cook Street, between Hillside and Caledonia Avenues. The city solicitor was asked to draw up a resolution appointing Dr. Richard Felton, city medical health officer, an inspector under the Food and Drugs Act. It was not revealed whether the doctor's appointment will conflict with duties at present performed by a trained Government official stationed here in the same capacity.

It was decided to call for tenders to demolish old buildings at the foot of Washington Avenue. On recommendation of the finance committee, the Publicity Bureau was granted $3,000 on account of any grant that might be made later.

On motion of Alderman Williams, the city solicitor was asked to confer with the building inspector in regard to the city's power to limit roofs in the business district being used for grandstands. The alderman stated many roofs were not safe to be used for that purpose.

SEEK ASSISTANCE

On motion of Alderman W. H. Davies, it was decided to ask the Local Council of Women to appoint a committee to provide first aid service, rest room accommodation, guides and other arrangements for the thousands of school children expected here during the Royal visit. Alderman Davies also moved that the Automobile Club, automobile dealers, garage and service station proprietors appoint a committee to confer with the chief of police to settle parking problems to be caused by the influx of a large number of automobiles.

The city solicitor was asked to take the necessary steps to have Thetis Lake declared a pound area. Alderman John A. Worthington declared "young wild steers" were being set out to graze in the park. The city purchasing agent reported no offers had been received for the tea-room concession at Goldstream Park.

A. H. McPherson was appointed a licensed auctioneer for the public market yard. The finance committee was asked to deal with plans of Alderman Gadsden to reorganize the positions of market superintendent, weighmaster and fair weights and measures officer.

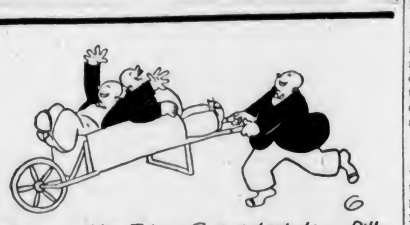

REVENUE DROPS

Alderman Gadsden explained he was endeavoring to reduce expenditures and increase the market profit, which was only $536.34 last year. Alderman Morgan asked for an explanation, since he believed the gross revenue to be about $9,000. Alderman Dewar believed the Marketing Act to be responsible for the drop in revenue.

Authority was given the parks committee to purchase hose, lawn mowers, rubber tires for the mowers, grass catchers and parts, and to spray boulevard trees at a cost of $100.

Lands committee sales ratified by the council were lots on the west side of Langham Court, $1,000; west side of Montreal Street, between Kingston and Belleville Streets, $4,000; south side of Ross Street, near Passmore Street, $200; a lot on Montreal Street, $500, and another at 2838 Douglas Street for $600.

Alderman Dewar reported January general receipts of the lands office totaling $9,827.65; land sales of $10,800; and expenses of $792.36. The respective figures for January, 1938, were: $6,372.44, $6,711 and $502.54.

Girl, Now Member of CFCT Staff In Victoria, to Be Given Hollywood Contract

Three years ago a young lady who chose the nom-de-plume of "Killarney," wrote a popular song with the title "You're Too Goodlooking." The song was written in collaboration with Fred Bass, announcer for CKWX, Vancouver, and last night Earle Kelly, CJOR microphone man, broadcast an inquiry as to the whereabouts of "Killarney," for there is a $1,000 Hollywood song-writing contract awaiting her signature in Vancouver.

The broadcast brought a quick reply, for Miss "Killarney" is a member of the CFCT radio studio staff. The inquiry was broadcast by CJOR when all efforts to locate the young lady in Vancouver failed.

Miss "Killarney" is now awaiting the arrival of the contract by mail from Vancouver.

MOVE SWIFTLY TO END WAR

by French and British representatives with insurgent authorities at Burgos in attempts to arrange a truce.

Immediately after the Le Perthus meeting, Henry and Stevenson telephoned their Foreign Offices. It was assumed the British Foreign Office would communicate with General Franco immediately.

FRANCO'S TERMS

BURGOS, Spain, Feb. 6 (AP).—Insurgent General Franco was reported today to have met all suggestions of an armistice in Spain's civil war with a declaration his terms were "unconditional surrender."

Franco, confident of an early insurgent victory, was represented as feeling that any talk of an armistice was useless.

His most recent direct action to end the war was a radio appeal to the Government in January to lay down its arms. He declared then the Government could not possibly win and promised pardons for all those who, he said, were "misled" into fighting on the Government side.

Franco coupled his promise with a declaration that Government leaders responsible for prolonging the war would be punished.

Barcelona advices reported insurgent planes flew over retreating Government troops in Catalonia today and dropped pamphlets signed by Franco reading: "I guarantee that the lives of all troops who surrender in good faith will be respected."

FOUR INTO FRANCE

LE PERTHUS, France, Feb. 6 (AP).—The Spanish Government's Catalonian army poured into France tonight at the rate of nearly 6,000 men an hour with General Franco's insurgents almost at their heels.

Franco's forces were occupying Catalonia, Northeastern Spain, as fast as their motorized equipment could carry their advance guards. The Catalonian conquest rolled to the French border at one point tonight, southeast of Puigcerda, some sixty miles inland from the Mediterranean.

One advance column, proudly flying the red and gold banners of insurgent Spain from tanks and armored cars, mounted a ridge of the Tosas mountains at dusk. From their vantage point these insurgents could see French troops patrolling mountain trails on the French side of the border. The insurgents paused only a few minutes to cheer in victory before pressing on toward the Puigcerda gateway into France.

COLUMNS OF REFUGEES

Through mountain passes from Bourge-Madame, opposite Puigcerda, to Cerbere, French border town on the Mediterranean, columns of soldiers and refugees, twelve miles long in some places, retreated into France, taxing relief funds and food supplies.

The remnants of an army of more than 250,000 men which had fought Franco to a standstill in the Ebro River valley last Summer, laid down their arms as they crossed the Pyrenees boundary. Most of the soldiers were weary from the month and a half of pounding by insurgent guns and bombs and disheartened by the fall of Barcelona, Government capital and Spain's greatest city.

Their faces were grimy and unshaven. Their khaki uniforms were muddy and torn. Some men wore bandages. Some hobbled on crutches. Some bravely shouted, "On to Valencia!" Others were full of despair.

WOMEN AND SOLDIERS

Women walked with their soldier husbands. A soldier helped his one-legged comrade by carrying his artificial leg—the injured man had found crutches easier to manipulate.

Civilians, continuing the same ragged processions that swelled toward France when Franco laid siege to Barcelona, now were in a minority.

But still there were thousands of them—mothers carrying babies and herding older children along, old men bending under their luggage, young girls pushing baby carriages loaded with suitcases.

Somewhere in the ranks of beaten men were several thousand members of the International Brigade, including ninety-seven Canadians, mustered out of the Spanish Government ranks before the fall of Barcelona but caught in the Catalonian rout.

At the end of the trail were concentration camps for soldiers and non-combatants and the necessity of choosing between insurgent and Government Spain for repatriation. The refugees numbered nearly 100,000 tonight.

WHY IS IDAHO CALLED "LITTLE IDA?"

Senator William E. Borah speaking:

It is on a July 24 Mormon Pioneer Day in Idaho, into which, after one of history's greatest treks, a large number of Latter Day Saints had overflowed from Utah.

"Everyone," intoned the grizzled orator to a hushed audience, "capable of being moved by deeds of great daring, by patient suffering, by a spirit of devotion which never faltered, readily join with the Mormon people in paying tribute to those pioneer men and women, who, rather than surrender their faith, faced the perils and privations of the wilderness and in doing so planted the seeds of an empire.

"We all feel a just pride in the work they did. We all feel that in the achievement of the pioneer of whatever faith or political creed, there is glory enough for us all. We are all beneficiaries of their years of sacrifice and patient building.

"Few figures in history are more worthy of our emulation than the pioneer—sturdy, self-reliant, resourceful, unshaken by adversity, modest in success, he was truly the architect of his own fortunes, the builder of great commonwealths. If you would know his full stature and grasp the full force of his genius, contrast him with the cowed, whipped, fear-smitten, spineless, dependent creatures with whom Nazism, Fascism and Communism fill the world.

"In the wake of the one we find forests and deserts conquered and subdued, great states erected, law and order established and personal liberty preserved. With the other, violence and terror hold sway over a sorrow-stricken, harassed, tortured and enslaved people—millions of broken hearts and blasted souls. We can pay no higher tribute to the brave pioneer than to highly resolve that no such creeds shall ever find lodgement under the American flag."

Gem of the Mountains and Gem State did these pioneers by-name Idaho, after the meaning of its Indian appellation, in which the allusion is to the sun, rising like a fiery brilliant over far off peaks and crags; but the nickname for it that is loved best is "Little Ida," affectionately bestowed upon it because of its size in comparison with some of the other members of the family of Western States—a diminutive endearment it does not deserve.

For while it has about one-third the area of Texas, half that of California and Montana, two-thirds that of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and Colorado, it is a close runner-up to Wyoming and Oregon, tops by a hair Minnesota and Utah, is big sister, in our manner of speaking, to Wisconsin, Washington, Illinois, Kansas, Michigan, Oklahoma, Nebraska and the Dakotas, and can squeeze into its borders Ohio and Indiana—and without requisitioning its panhandle.

WAS HIS FACE RED?

Celebrated for the eloquence of his sermons, the white preacher was touched and flattered by the invitation to address a negro congregation, and he stood smiling by while the colored minister rose to introduce him. "Bredern an' sistern," said the worthy, "Ah sure am happy to hab the great pleasure to introduce dis gentleman, de speaker for de evenin'. An' before I leaves him to talk to you, I wants to 'sure you all dat if his skin is white, his heart am as black as any of yours!"

Cold Wind Is Predicted by Weather Man

A cold northerly wind, with the possibility of some sleet or snow, was the prediction of the Meterological Office last night for Victoria and the immediate vicinity. A strong wind was forecast, and it was expected that the sky would be clouded today.

For an hour yesterday afternoon the first snow of this Winter fell in the city, but it was more like sleet than real snow, and the big, wet flakes melted immediately they touched roofs and pavements. Light rain showers followed.

Pressure remained low from Vancouver Island southwards last night, but an extensive cold mass was reported to be spreading southward over the Interior of the province, and the Prairie Provinces continued to experience cold conditions.

Strong northwest winds or moderate gales, with sleet and snow, were forecast for the West Coast and the northern end of the Island. For Vancouver the forecast was fresh to strong northeast winds, becoming considerably colder, with snow.

SCHOOL PROJECT WILL BE DELAYED

Lower Island Rural High School Area Plan to Be Left In Abeyance

SHAWNIGAN LAKE, Feb. 6.—The quarterly meeting of the Lower Vancouver Island Rural School Trustees' Association was held in the Shawnigan Lake School on Friday evening, with a good attendance. School boards represented were Cowichan Station, Bench, Cobble Hill, Mill Bay, Sylvania and Shawnigan Lake. R. P. Weber, president, presided.

W. G. Gamble, reporting for the rural high school area committee, gave an outline of the progress to date. After a lengthy discussion of the matter, it was decided that the rural high school area project be left in abeyance for the time being, in view of the opposition of the Cobble Hill district.

A constructive letter from J. M. Thomas, principal of the Cobble Hill High School, was read, in which he suggested centralized school administration for both elementary and high schools in this area, and urged a change of the educational financing system all over the province.

FINDS DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Jury Inquires Into Fatality On E. & N. Railway at Esquimalt

A verdict of accidental death was brought in by the jury which inquired last night into the circumstances surrounding the death of Joe Shaw, elderly Nitinat Indian living in the Esquimalt reservation, who was killed instantly when run over by the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway passenger train No. 2, three miles from Victoria, a few minutes before 5 o'clock last Friday evening.

The jury, which comprised William E. Catheis (foreman), Francis B. Shore, Irvine A. Cameron, Herbert Sabiston, John G. Thomson and Charles A. Taylor, did not retire to consider its verdict.

The evidence showed that the Indian, who was totally deaf, had been walking between the rails towards the train, with his head down, and did not hear several warning blasts sounded on the whistle.

TIME TO GET CLEAR

Christopher Wensley, locomotive engineer, stated that if the deceased had taken notice of the first warning whistle, or even the second, when the emergency brake was applied, he would have had ample time to get off the track. The right-of-way was fenced at that point, and the Indian was trespassing on the track, the witness stated.

Other witnesses were Andrew Bugslag, fireman; John E. MacDonald, conductor; Constable E. F. McKay, Provincial Police, and Cecil Shaw, a son of the deceased. The last-named witness placed his father's age at between seventy and seventy-five years, and stated that he had been living in the reservation since last September, and should, therefore, have known the movements of the trains. He had often previously walked along the railway track, which was the shortest way to the Postoffice, the witness stated.

INCOME TAXES ARE DUE SOON

Provincial Returns Due From Individuals by the End of This Month

Taxation officials of the Treasury drew attention yesterday to the fact that personal returns from wage-earners and salaried groups under the Provincial Income Tax Act are due at the office of the provincial assessor on or before February 28. Tax refunds under the 1 per cent section of the statute are being made right along now. In the neighborhood of $1,000,000 will be handed back.

Amendments to the Income Tax Act made at the last session with regard to corporation reserves among holding companies will come into effect for the first time this year. In the Legislature it was said that the amendment might affect half a dozen corporations, under permissive authority granted to the Treasury.

The main body of the Income Tax Act remains unchanged. Personal returns are due by the end of this month and refunds will be made to wage-earners when companion returns are received from their employers. With the same exemptions as before, returns are due from all persons who earned an income in British Columbia last year.

Businesses whose fiscal year ended December 31, 1938, are obliged to file separate returns by the end of March, under the commercial section of the statute.

MAKES PLEA FOR BOYCOTT

Mrs. Lenore Underwood, of San Francisco, Addresses Jewish Women Here

Boycott of Germany and Japan as a means of impressing upon them civilization's disapproval of their actions at the present time, is advocated by Mrs. Lenore D. Underwood, San Francisco attorney-at-law, grand president of the international Jewish organization, B'nai Brith, who addressed a big gathering of women held here yesterday afternoon.

Sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary of local B'nai Brith, the affair was in the form of a silver tea in aid of the German refugees' fund, and was held at the home of A. E. Alexandor, 51 Marlborough Street. Mrs. Julia Bernstein, president of the auxiliary, presided and introduced the speaker.

CIVILIZATION AT STAKE

The tragedy of the Jewish people in Germany today was not only the tragedy of the Jews. Civilization itself was challenged. No people, no nation, no government could hope to stand when it was built on hate, said the speaker. Suicides were a daily occurrence in Germany, hopeless victims of ruthless persecution seeing no other way out of their misery. Secret police spied on the Jews' every movement.

A young German refugee in California had told her story of how his family was seized and hustled off to one of the dreaded concentration camps because he had been one of a small group that met weekly to play cards. Jews in Germany were not allowed to congregate in groups of more than four without reporting to the police. Although this group had obeyed the regulation, they were compelled to sign an affidavit that they had committed an offence against the State, and were sent to a concentration camp. The father and son succeeded in getting out of the country after being fined nine-tenths of their money.

In citing this case, Mrs. Underwood recalled the passionate love of their fatherland still felt by these exiled Jews. Persecuted as they had been, they still regarded Germany as their country, and would go back at the earliest opportunity.

GERMANS FIRST

German Jews were Germans before they were Jews. They loved Germany just as much as the English Jews loved England or the American Jews loved America. Despite their terrible sufferings under the Hitler regime, they felt Germany to be their rightful home, their country, their fatherland.

"It is only my personal view, but I do not believe the solution of the problem is the removal of the Jews from Germany," said Mrs. Underwood, who argued the logic of trying to make Germany realize that German Jews were as essentially German as any part of the Germun people, an integral part of the nation.

Other nations could not decide for the Jews what their destiny should be or where they should go. For the nations collectively to decide that the Jews should be collected out of Germany and sent off to Africa or somewhere else to live in big colonies would be tantamount to creating another form of concentration camp.

"It's better to stand fighting on your feet than to die on your knees," she argued in defence of her attitude.

"This dictatorship in Germany is something we in this country cannot understand. We are going to fight it. We are made of the stuff that cannot be destroyed," said the lecturer in referring to the gathering forces of Jewish action through B'nai Brith and similar organizations that were aiding the refugees.

B'NAI BRITH

Some information was given about B'nai Brith, among its splendid and varied activities being the donation of $100,000 for the purchase of land in Palestine; the support of the "seeing-eye" dogs which guide blind people; and the establishment of the Hillel Foundation on the campus of the University of California, a cultural and social centre where people could meet the young Jewish people.

Historically, the speaker said, Christianity was based on the Jewish religion, and Jew and Christian were fundamentally the same, "sisters under the skin," with the same humanitarian ideals, the same standards, and the same common contribution to make to literature, art, and music. In conclusion, Mrs. Underwood told something also of Hadassah and Youth Aliyah, a plan for the immigration of Jewish refugee boys and girls into Palestine.

SEEKS CANCELLATION OF INGLIS CONTRACT

"a devastating condemnation" of the administration.

Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of Defence, heard Dr. Manion say he should not be entrusted with the spending of $63,000,000 to be voted for defence this year.

Hugh Plaxton (Liberal, Toronto-Trinity), who was also in his seat, was declared by Dr. Manion to have "intentionally or otherwise" deceived Prime Minister Mackenzie King when he wrote him in August, 1936, that a group of his friends had a plant equipped to manufacture munitions.

Major James E. Hahn, head of the Inglis firm, who Dr. Manion said "could not have got into the British War Office if he had not been pushed in by the Minister of Defence," was an interested spectator in the gallery.

MOVES AMENDMENT

Dr. Manion moved for cancellation of the contract in an amendment to the motion of Grant MacNeil (C.C.F., Vancouver North), which called for submission of the contract and the Davis report to the public accounts committee.

Hon. Pierre Casgrain, Speaker of the House, took under consideration an argument advanced by Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, that the amendment was out of order. He said he would deliver a ruling later.

J. S. Woodsworth, C.C.F. leader, said he wanted to see the MacNeil motion carried because the committee inquiry seemed necessary if members were to get information. He described answers to questions given by Mr. Mackenzie on the Bren contract as "misrepresentations" and "suppression of desirable information," in the light of evidence before the Davis Commission.

SWEEPING CHARGES

In negotiating the contract there had been "favoritism" to one man, "injustice" to other manufacturers" and "deception" of the Prime Minister, of the interdepartmental committee (created to pass on munitions contracts), of the British Government and of the Canadian people, Dr. Manion contended.

While he sympathized with the motives of Mr. MacNeil and paid tribute to his presentation of argument, Dr. Manion declared a public accounts committee inquiry was not the best means of dealing with the matter. It would end in a political whitewash.

"What conclusion is to be drawn. If Justice Davis wished to find only that there was no evidence of corruption, why did he insert all these pen-pictures of evidence in his report?

WHOLE THING IRREGULAR

"The reason was he considered the whole thing was irregular. He showed his greatest condemnation in recommending creation of a defence purchasing board."

Hon. Grote Stirling (Conservative, Yale), former Minister of Defence, declared he had "absolutely no faith" in the proposal to refer the Bren gun contract to the public accounts committee.

February 28 Is Deadline for Car Plates and Yearly Drivers' Licences

Annual motor vehicle registration fees and annual drivers' licences will become due and payable to the Provincial Government on or before February 28, it was pointed out yesterday at the Legislative Buildings. On March 1, the new 1939 plates must be shown on all cars on the road, it was announced by the Provincial Motor Licence Branch.

Car licences remain unchanged, averaging in the neighborhood of $20 for the average motor vehicle. Annual drivers' licences will cost $1, as before, and are exclusive of the drivers' examination fee, for which $1 will be charged when the tests are passed.

Centenarian Is Still Very Active

SHOREACRES, B.C., Feb. 6 (CP).—Mrs. Mary Holuboff attended to her knitting and spinning today with a vigor that belied her 107 years.

The aged Doukhobor, who has abstained from meat, liquor and tobacco in accordance with the custom of her sect, did the work without the aid of glasses. At times she would stop to direct other members of her family in some form of housework or to discuss Doukhobor problems with neighbors.

At noon she ate a soup made mainly from vegetables. She said this was what she usually ate, but added she varied her diet with cake, bread, fruit and various vegetables.

Mrs. Holuboff was one of the original group of Doukhobors who came to Canada from Russia in 1898-99. During that period, some five thousand members of her sect settled in the Kootenay district of British Columbia, and other sections of Canada, in search of religious freedom. Sixty-six years old at the time, Mrs. Holuboff has lived ever since in this settlement, eighteen miles west of Nelson.

She is the mother of seven children and brought three sons and two daughters to Canada when she immigrated. William and Andrew are still living. John died recently in Alberta. George and Nick never left Russia. One daughter, Natasia, lives at Canora, Sask., and the other, Mrs. Lucy Popoff, resides in Brilliant, B.C. There are numerous grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

Mrs. James Baker Re-elected Regent at Annual Meeting—Splendid Record of Year's Activities Given by Officers and Conveners

Mrs. James Baker was re-elected regent by acclamation of the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. at the annual meeting held in the private dining-room of the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon.

The other officers are as follows: First vice-regent, Mrs. Frank Baylis; second vice-regent, Mrs. R. W. Marsh; secretary, Mrs. Hubert Lethaby; Echoes secretary, Mrs. H. Catterall; educational secretary, Mrs. W. E. Rayfuse; treasurer, Mrs. R. S. Standerwick; standard-bearer, Mrs. Ernest Eve.

MANY ACTIVITIES

The secretary, Mrs. Lethaby, said that the T.B. Pavilion of the Jubilee Hospital was this chapter's special interest, and in consequence the majority of the activities during the year were held with this worthy object in view. In order to raise funds, a silver tea was held; a rummage sale netted a good sum; a bridge tea was held; the annual garden fete at Hatley Park attracted a large crowd of visitors; contests, bazzaars and teas all helped to augment the chapter's fund. According to the report of the treasurer, Mrs. Standerwick, the receipts for the year were $1,116.55 and the disbursements, $949.18, leaving a bank balance of $656.37.

In addition to supporting the T.B. Pavilion, donations were made to the Solarium, secondary education, Girl Guides, child welfare, Local Council of Women, soldiers' graves, Sea Cadets, work in India, endowment fund, and needy cases.

EDUCATIONAL REPORT

Mrs. George Lillie, publicity convener, expressed the chapter's thanks to the press for valuable assistance. Mrs. Marsh read the educational report in which it was recorded that the usual $100 for the bursary fund of Municipal Chapter had been augmented by an additional $25, this amount being specially earmarked to help a young lad take advantage of a bursary at a military school. Books and magazines had been sent to schools and calendars sent to schools and hospitals.

HOSPITAL WORK

According to the report of Mrs. Kitching, sunroom convener, the hospital pavilion had been visited each week during the year and special delicacies had been presented to the patients from time to time. The sunrooms had been decorated and during the Summer, ice cream was served. At Christmas time decorated trees were arranged and on Christmas Day a turkey dinner was served to thirty-five patients and friends, a six-piece orchestra playing during dinner. Each patient was presented, by the regent, on behalf of the chapter, with a card and gift of money. Shoes, slippers, pyjamas, fruit, milk, etc., had been given to the patients.

NEW MEMBERS

Mrs. Baker, the regent, gave a short address, thanking the members for their splendid co-operation and their endeavor to live up to the chapter's motto, "Love Never Faileth." The increase in membership had been gratifying.

Mrs. Baker referred specially to the splendid work done by Mrs. Kitching, Jubilee Hospital committee convener, upon whose shoulders the bulk of the hospital visiting had fallen.

In appreciation of all she had done for the chapter, Mrs. Baker was presented by Mrs. Frank Baylis with a book and a corsage bouquet. Mrs. Lucas was presented with a bouquet of flowers and a jardiniere in appreciation of her faithful work as standard-bearer of the chapter for the past ten years. Corsage bouquets were also presented to Mrs. R. B. McMicking, Mrs. William Ellis, Mrs. Kyrle Symons and Miss L. Mitchell, who was celebrating her birthday, the gifts being presented by Mrs. Baker.

Upon the invitation of Mrs. Baker, the members and guests had tea in the adjoining private dining-room, the table exquisitely arranged with a green damask cloth, lighted tapers and a bowl of plum blossom and daffodils. Mrs. G. P. Clarke Is Bade Farewell by Esquimalt Chapter

Presentation Made to Regent on Her Departure For England—Mrs. J. T. Jones Elected Head Of Mary Croft I.O.D.E. at Annual Meeting

THE annual meeting of the Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at the home of Mrs. A. W. Y. Des Brisay, Head Street, yesterday afternoon, was one of celebration as well as of regret. It revealed that the past year was the most successful experienced by the chapter for many years; and it was also a farewell to the regent, Mrs. G. Puleston Clarke, who is leaving this month for England, after nineteen years' connection with the I.O.D.E. work. Mrs. Clarke was named honorary vice-regent of the chapter and Lady Barnard was chosen honorary regent.

In her address, Mrs. Clarke said: "May I leave these few words with you as members of this great and beloved order: The opportunities for usefulness are open to each one of us, if we have sufficient faith in our work. Go ahead wholeheartedly in perfect harmony, and by so doing accomplish that unity of purpose that is bound to culminate in great achievements and so make us worthy of the Empire which we are privileged to serve."

Mrs. J. T. Jones was elected regent of the chapter, with the following executive: Mrs. C. T. Beard, first vice-regent; Mrs. A. A. Warder, second vice-regent; Mrs. H. O. Austin, secretary; Mrs. H. Cresine, assistant secretary; Mrs. Warren Smith, treasurer; Mrs. W. E. A. Barclay, educational secretary, and Mrs. J. Quinn, standard-bearer.

LARGE DONATIONS

Approximately $650 was raised during the year, it was shown in the treasurer's annual report, and about $576 was spent on worthy causes, including the milk fund for under-nourished children in Esquimalt. Two bursaries amounting to $55 were given Esquimalt students, and $35 was spent in purchasing books for needy students in the district. To secondary education, $110 was donated, and $25 to Christmas cheer. Other donations were made to the Tubercular Veterans, Imperial Comrades, endowment fund, Rainbow Sea Cadets, child welfare, Girl Guides and the Solarium. The chapter's adopted children at the Solarium received gifts at Easter, Hallowe'en and Christmas.

The secretary, Mrs. H. O. Austin, gave a splendid report of the activities of the chapter, and the outstanding events were the annual garden party at the lovely home of Lady Barnard; the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the chapter with a tea at the Empress Hotel, at which time a life membership was presented to Lady Barnard, and a Spring bridge party.

Mrs. Clarke paid special tribute to Lady Barnard for her support in the chapter, and to Mr. H. O. Austin and Mr. J. Quinn for their splendid assistance during her three years as regent. To The Daily Colonist and The Daily Times, appreciation was expressed for publicity.

MAKE PRESENTATIONS

The presentation of a beautiful bouquet of carnations and rosebuds, together with a purse of money, was made to Mrs. Clarke by Mrs. Allen, with the best wishes and affection of the chapter in her new surroundings. Corsage bouquets to the 1938 officers and standing committees were presented by Mrs. Clarke, and a corsage bouquet is being sent to Lady Barnard, who was unable to be present. Mrs. Thomas was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Cyril Cross, as convener of nominations, and her committee, Mrs. Gerald Sedger and Mrs. Walter Withers, and the scrutineers, Mrs. Mackenzie-Grieve and Mrs. Ryley, were thanked for their efficient work with the election.

Mrs. E. V. Finland, Old Esquimalt Road, extended an invitation to the members to hold their meeting next month at her home.

Mrs. Des Brisay was hostess with the executive at tea following the meeting, and Mrs. Des Brisay's mother, Mrs. Skinner, presided at the daintily appointed tea table, which was covered with a Venetian cloth and centred with a bowl of daffodils.

KNITTED VEST—DESIGN NO. 743

Dear Readers: The Tyrolean influence which has made itself felt in all the smartest sport clothes this season, is echoed in this neat little vest that will be equally smart at home or abroad. Knitted in vivid colors and simple stitches, it can be made in very short order, and it is surprisingly adaptable to all types of costumes. The bright dashes of color in the embroidery give it a peasant touch, too, and the snug fit and buttoned front are ever so flattering to both the youthful and the more mature figure.

The pattern includes instructions for knitting in small, medium and large sizes, together with material requirements and directions for finishing.

Canadian-Australasian Liner Expected to Dock About 8 in the Evening

Inbound from Australia by way of New Zealand, Fiji and Hawaii, the Canadian-Australasian Ss. Niagara, Captain William Martin, commander, is due at William Head about 7 p.m., Thursday, according to advices received from the liner by James Macfarlane, general agent of Canadian Pacific Steamships in Victoria. The Niagara has passengers mails and cargo for Victoria. She should be alongside Rithet Piers by 8 o'clock.

From Japan ports, the Nippon Yusen Kaisha Ms. Heian Maru was an arrival at Vancouver over the week-end. William Harold of the local Great Northern Railway staff, who boarded the liner at William Head, states there was an important trade party from Japan aboard bound for an extended tour of South American countries.

The trade party consisted of Motisha Ono, Scutiti Susuki, Teruhiko Hirasama, Yosio Tuboi, Yukiti, Kanda and Takeo Matura.

Other prominent passengers aboard the liner were Commander and Mrs. Kazuku Yamazi, and the Misses Hiroka and Masko Yamazi, the former being the newly-appointed naval attache to the Japanese Legation at Ottawa.

Tadeo Mori, of the Japan Tourist Bureau, was on his way to San Francisco, where he will represent his organization during the period of the exposition.

BRITISH SHIP QUARANTINED

Ms. Queen Victoria, From Shanghai for Vancouver, Has Smallpox Aboard

Flying the yellow flag, the British Ms. Queen Victoria reached William Head on Sunday. On Thursday last, the ship's boatswain, George Lorimer, died of smallpox, while James Wright, a messboy who is supposed to have contracted the disease, is isolated and under observation.

The balance of the ship's personnel, including twenty-nine officers and men, were ordered ashore from the ship, which is now alongside the quarantine wharf undergoing fumigation. Detention may extend to the regulation twenty-one days.

Lorimer's body was brought to William Head and buried there yesterday afternoon. He hailed from South Shields, England, where Wright also belongs.

The Queen Victoria is a new vessel and is making her first visit to the British Columbia coast. She will go to Vancouver later. Her owners are T. Dunlop & Sons, Glasgow.

BURGLARY AT NANAIMO

NANAIMO, Feb. 6 — Burglars ransacked the home of W. E. Turley, Machleary Street, over the week-end, taking $15 in cash and thirty cents from a boy's bank.

DOCTORS CHECK KIDNEYS FIRST

Because they know that healthy Kidneys remove from the blood the waste matter—the excess acids and poisons, formed by the ever-changing human body as it decays and rebuilds itself. But if the Kidneys fail, illness surely follows. Backache, Rheumatism, Impure Blood, Lack of Energy, Too Frequent Urination, Sleeplessness, Headaches—all may result from faulty kidneys. As a health safeguard—as a wise precaution—regulate your kidneys frequently with Dodd's Kidney Pills—for over fifty years the favorite Kidney remedy—non-habit forming—safe. 105

Getting Familiar With the Lewis Gun

Skipper Mike Sakion and the crew of the seiner Percy W. had their first lesson in setting up and operating a machine gun yesterday morning, off Esquimalt Harbor. On a temporary mount, the gun was set up in different parts of the boat and its functions demonstrated by Gunnery Instructors C.P.O. Freeman and P.O. Massingham. The Royal Canadian Navy men and the crew of the boat, now in the Fishermen's Reserve, are interested spectators as Skipper Sakion sights the Lewis gun on a floating object in the Strait, while C.P.O. Freeman holds a bag to catch the spent shells flying back.

DEATH TAKES SHIPMASTER

Captain A. M. Davies, Well-Known Resident, Passed Away on Sunday

THE LATE CAPT. A. M. DAVIES

One of the best known master mariners of the British Columbia coast, Captain Allan Morton Davies passed away at his home here on Sunday, in his eighty-second year, after a long illness.

The late Captain Davies was born in Liverpool in 1856. He chose the sea for a career, and started as an apprentice at an early age. Very successful, he had attained master's standing and was in command of a sailing vessel by the time he was twenty-six years of age.

Like many another old-time skipper, Captain Davies was trained in sail. As an apprentice he had his first sea experiences aboard the ship Borrowdale. That was in 1872. He first visited Victoria in 1898, when he was master of the ship Ilala. He later commanded the Baroda in the Chilean nitrate trade.

It is in connection with the Grand Trunk Pacific steamers, Prince Rupert and Prince John, however, that he is best known in these parts. In 1910 he brought out the Ss. Prince Rupert by way of Magellan Strait, taking seventy-three days to make the passage. The next year he returned to England for the Ss. Prince John.

Deciding to make his home on the British Columbia coast, Captain Davies took a berth as second officer on the Prince Rupert, later going to the Prince John as first officer, soon becoming master of the latter vessel.

BECAME EXAMINER

Leaving the ships in the coast service, Captain Davies, until his retirement in 1934, was Examiner of Masters and Mates in the Port of Victoria, and a number of masters and mates now employed on coast ships who secured their certificates through him, will remember the kindly examiner who assisted them in achieving their ambitions. They, as well as a host of shoreside friends, will mourn the passing of a sailor who, while quiet and unassuming, was at all times a highly-respected citizen of the city in which he made his home.

Captain Davies leaves to mourn his loss one daughter, Miss Nancy Davies, at the family home, 268 Ontario Street; three sons: John, Victoria, and Frank and Allan, Prince Rupert; and three grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Veteran of Many Years' Service to Be Awarded Medal

John Tumulty, who was in the service of the Dominion Government for thirty-eight years, will be presented with the Imperial Service Order medal tomorrow afternoon at Government House by Hon. Eric W. Hamber, Lieutenant-Governor.

Mr. Tumulty, now seventy-two years of age, joined the quarantine service here in January, 1900, and retired on pension in September, 1937. During his term of service the station was directed by the Department of Agriculture, Immigration and Colonization Department, and is now under the Department of Pensions and National Health.

VANCOUVER SHIPPING

VANCOUVER, Feb. 6 (CP).—First tugboat built to new Dominion Government specifications for work on the West Coast of Vancouver Island will be launched tomorrow morning at the A. C. Benson shipbuilding yards in Coal Harbor.

The wooden vessel, to be christened Tyee No. 1, is sixty feet long, has a beam of sixteen feet and a draught of 9.6 feet. The craft is powered with 140-horsepower engines.

The steamship Trevanion is due here February 17 to load for Australia under charter to Union Steamship Company of New Zealand.

The coastwise tanker Impoco, formerly named Imperial and before that Minoco, sailed for Victoria early this afternoon behind an Island Tug & Barge Company tugboat, to be scrapped for Canadian Junk Company, Ltd. The company has sent the ship to its subsidiary Victoria plant, Capital Iron & Metals, Ltd., to be broken up.

The old vessel was called Imperial until a few months ago when her name was taken over by a new welded steel tanker.

The Italian steamship Fella will load 5,000 tons of wheat here and pick up 1,000 tons of lead at New Westminster for Italy. She brought in a small cargo of cheese and other Italian food products.

Thirty-one Chinese passengers were brought to Vancouver by the steamship Ixion, Blue Funnel Line, which arrived during the week-end. The Chinese will travel overland in bond, and seek admission to the United States. Immigration officials here said so many Chinese have applied for admission to the United States since Sino-Japanese hostilities began, that many must spend months at Ellis Island, off New York, before being admitted under quota restrictions.

IN VIOLATION OF AGREEMENT

Union Official Terms Seattle Walkout Really Breach Of Contract

SEATTLE, Feb. 6 (AP).—A San Francisco peace parley in the Alaskan shipping tie-up was planned today by a union official who termed the walkout here a violation of an agreement between the union and shipowners.

Captain C. F. May, West Coast head of the Masters, Mates and Pilots' Association, said he sympathized with strikers, but stoppages in work or strikes were prohibited by a signed agreement between the union and owners.

May added that the strikers complained to the companies involved, the Alaska Transportation, Northland Transportation and Alaska Steamship, that the agreement also provided for certain overtime provisions and separate staterooms for licensed officers.

May said he and three other union representatives would attend a meeting on Tuesday with shipowners in San Francisco to negotiate the walkout.

Tie-up of direct shipping to the Territory last Friday resulted in a serious fresh food shortage in several Alaskan cities over the week-end. Butter and eggs were sold out on Saturday night in Cordova. Fresh meats were almost exhausted, but most stores reported they had enough staples to last two weeks.

Three steamships were tied up and three more were posted to arrive from the Far North this week.

DESCRIBES WORK OF EMPIRE SONS

Faculty of "Carrying On" Praised By Dean Elliott in Address To Overseas League

The unassuming and unostentatious manner in which "sons of the Empire" carry on with their jobs in lonely parts of the world was the subject of an informal address given by Very Rev. Spencer H. Elliott, Dean of Columbia, at an afternoon tea meeting of the Overseas League yesterday afternoon.

Dean Elliott related many interesting and amusing anecdotes of his travels in the Near East and India, and described the duties of administrative officials at Indian outposts. There was something that united all those who were under the Union Jack, he said, and wherever the British civil servant was stationed he had a faculty of doing his job without fuss or bother. Wherever representatives of the Empire might be sent—to the Arctic or Antarctic regions, or the blistering heat of India and the desert—they lived uncomplainingly and usefully.

A bad fault of the English tourist, the dean said, was that in Europe he would not depart from his own language if he could possibly help it, expecting, instead, that the other fellow should be able to speak English, but the real servant of the Empire set to work to learn the language of the people among whom he was stationed.

At the conclusion of his address, Dean Elliott received a hearty vote of thanks, on the motion of Rev. T. H. Laundy, chairman.

Ten new members were welcomed at the meeting, at which there was an attendance of sixty-five members.

Boston Chalks Up Another Shutout; Rangers-Leafs Tie

Frankie Brimsek Credited With Eighth Blanking Of Season as Bruins Beat Hawks, 3-0—Game At Gardens Ends in 5-5 Score—Detroit Red Wings Trim the Americans, 7-3

By ROBERT CLARKE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Every day in every way, as Boston gets better and better, it becomes more and more apparent that Art Ross threw a perfect strike on the rest of the National Hockey League when he called in Mrs. John Brimsek's little boy Frankie to look after the goaltending chores.

Undeniably, it's a case of a great Bruin team helping a jot in making a netminder look good, for the league-leading Ross Rifles have a great offensive and defensive record. But as certain as that is, it is also true that the twenty-four-year-old rookie Brimsek, in reverse fashion, has helped the Bruins look good.

The dark-haired net janitor has been good enough since he took over the job as regular Bruin goalie, December 1, after Ross sold the veteran Cecil (Tiny) Thompson to Detroit Red Wings, to turn in eight shutouts in the twenty-five games Bruins have played since then. That means nearly an average of a shutout in every third game.

EIGHTH SHUTOUT

His eighth blanking, which broke a tie and sent him one up on Walter (Turk) Broda, of Toronto Maple Leafs, came Sunday night when the Bruins walloped Chicago Black Hawks, 3-0, in Chicago. On hand at the game were the mothers of Brimsek and Goalie Karakas, of the Hawks. Both netmen are natives of Eveleth, Minn.

The doings of the New York Rangers held almost as much attention during the week-end as Boston's feat in whipping the Hawks. The second-place blueshirts of Lester Patrick whipped Maple Leafs, 4-2, in Toronto on Saturday night, and then tied the same team, 5-5, in New York. In the only other game of the week-end, Detroit swamped New York Americans, 7-3.

Centreman Bill Cowley gave Bruins the tally needed for victory when he scored in the first period on a pass from Eddie Shore. Gordon Pettinger added another in the second period, and in the third little Bobby Bauer ended the scoring with a goal in the second minute of the period. The loss, coupled with Detroit's victory, pushed Hawks down into sixth place in the standing.

There were numerous features in the Rangers-Leafs clashes, among them the fact that Clint Smith, of the New Yorkers, received his first penalty in the eighty-three games he has played in big league hockey. It came for a trip in the first period of the game at New York.

But Clint more than made up for that by the fact he scored one goal in Rangers' victory in Toronto and was credited with two tallies in the second game. One of the scores was an awarded goal, because Defenceman Bucko McDonald threw his stick as Smith was in alone on the goalie.

Neil Colville, Smith, Phil Watson and Bryan Hextall got the goals that meant victory for Rangers on Saturday night, as the best Leafs could do was the tallies by Gord Drillon and Syl Apps.

SCORES TWICE

Hextall got another two, Smith had two and Watson one in the return game. The Toronto forces were good for singles by Doc Romnes, Apps and Marker, while Defenceman "Red" Horner had two.

Rookie Gus Giesebrecht bagged three goals in the first period to pace Wings to their decision over the crippled Americans, who were playing their second straight game with Earl Robertson, regular goalie, replaced by Alfie Moore, the league's spare goalie. Besides Robertson, out with the grippe, the Americans still are minus "Red" Beattie and Defenceman Al Murray.

Carl Liscombe and Charlie Conacher also scored for the Wings in the first period to give them a 5-0 lead. Johnny Sorrell cut that by one with the only score in the middle period, and in the third session Alex Motter and Syd Howe tallied for the Wings, while Roger Jenkins and Sweeney Schriner scored for Americans.

White States He Will Not Report To Seattle Team

DETROIT, Feb. 6 (AP).—Joyner (Jo-Jo) White, former Detroit Tiger outfielder, said tonight he had decided to quite baseball and devote all of his time to a job in a Detroit automobile plant.

He is the property of the Seattle Club of the Pacific Coast League, having been traded by the Tigers several months ago in the transaction that brought Fred Hutchinson, young Seattle pitching sensation, into the Detroit fold.

GULFSTREAM RACE TRACK CLOSES GATE

Rich Racing Course Folds Up After Only Four Days Operating

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Feb 6 (AP).—Gulfstream Park, third race track in the Miami area, closed suddenly today after just four days of racing.

The officials of the Hollywood Jockey Club issued no formal statements, but it was understood a serious hitch in the financing was responsible.

The debacle came abruptly an hour before the horses were to have gone to the post. Entries had even been announced for tomorrow's card.

John F Letendre, managing director, made the announcement in the racing secretary's office after a conference with John C. Horning, the twenty-eight-year-old president, and Joel Hurt, vice-president.

"Gentlemen, I have bad news for you," he said. "The meeting is off. That's all the information I have."

The word was broadcast over the loud-speaker system to the patrons already on hand and the men at the gates were instructed to sell no more tickets. About 500 horses stabled at the track will be allowed to remain until their owners can make other arrangements.

Some 15,000 attended the opening last Wednesday, when Sonja Henie, the skating star, snipped a ribbon to open the racing strip, but after that the attendance fell off to a few thousand. It averaged about one-fourth the attendance of Hialeah Park and the betting never reached six figures. Last Saturday Gulfstream's pari-mutuel "handle" was $81,922, compared with $517,939 at Joseph E. Widener's famous track.

Showing Paris Fans How It Is Done

Wrestling fans in Paris were shown all the niceties of all-in wrestling in the match between Yvon Robert, former world's champion, who lived up to his reputation by throwing Henri Deglane, his opponent, at the end of a seventy-minute bout in Paris recently. Above, Deglane, present champion of France, is shown on top during the fight. Judging from the expression on their faces, it must have been a painful moment.

Johnny Gottselig Back in the Lead In National Loop

Veteran Chicago Winger Remains a Point Ahead Of Anderson, Apps and Schriner in Scoring Race—Marty Barry Holds Next Berth—"Red" Horner Still Tops in Penalties

MONTREAL, Feb. 6 (CP).—National Hockey League scoring statistics returned to their normal track today with Johnny Gottselig, of Chicago, once more in front by a nose.

Black-haired Johnny stepped back to fourth place a week ago, after holding the lead most of the season. He scored four points in one game against Montreal Canadiens to move right back to the top again. Official statistics gave the Hawk winger twenty-nine points, just one ahead of two New York Americans, Tommy Anderson and Sweeney Schriner, and Syl Apps, ace Toronto Maple Leaf centre.

Marty Barry, of Detroit, held the next spot alone with twenty-seven points, while Bryan Hextall, of New York Rangers, and Toe Blake, of Canadiens, were right behind with twenty-six.

Two Rangers shared goal-getting leadership, Hextall and Alex Shibicky having fourteen apiece. Schriner still paced the play-makers with nineteen assists.

"Red" Horner's claim to penalty leadership went unchallenged with one hour and three minutes in penalties.

Cardinals and Chinese Students Will Oppose Shawnigan Lake and Duncan, Respectively, in City This Week—Eight Aces and Ramblers Meet Tomorrow in Play-Off

Their league schedules completed, Cardinals and Chinese Students, city champions in their respective divisions of the Victoria and District Basketball League, will be gunning for bigger triumphs—Lower Island honors—Thursday evening, at the High School Gymnasium.

Cardinals are senior "B" women's titleholders and will oppose Shawnigan in the first of the two-game total-point series for the Lower Island championship. The second fixture will be played Up-Island at a later date.

When they step on the floor Thursday evening to oppose Shawnigan, Cardinals will occupy the role of defending Vancouver Island champions, having won the title last season. The locals defeated Shawnigan Lake in the Lower Island play-downs and then turned back Alberni in the finals.

Victors over West Road in a thrilling sudden-death fixture, Chinese Students are drawn against Duncan in the Lower Island play-offs. The Students have a smart cage machine and will take the floor slight favorites over the Up-Islanders. Duncan's line-up will include many players well-known to Victoria followers of the cage pastime and can be assured of making things interesting for the local quintette.

The preliminary fixture for Thursday evening has yet to be arranged.

Two Victoria and District League tussles and a play-off game between the Eight Aces and Ramblers, will be played tomorrow evening at the High School Gymnasium.

Spencers and Garrison, senior "C" men's cage quintettes, will meet in the curtain-raiser at 7 o'clock. In the second spot on the programme will be Eight Aces and Buckle's Service Station quintette. The clubs will be meeting in the first game of the city play-offs. The service station boys gained the right to oppose the undefeated leaders when they eked out a 62-21 triumph over the Ramblers in a two-game series.

Tomorrow's final attraction will bring together Palm Dairies and the Senators, senior "A" men's hoopsters, in a league encounter.

PLAY-OFF DATES

Island play-off games as announced last night by Ernie Stock, Saanich Suburban Basketball League representative to the Vancouver Island Association, follow:

Midgets—February 10, Duncan at Esquimalt; February 17, Esquimalt at Duncan.

SPEAKS ON 1940 TOUR

H. J. Ketchen Tells Local Union of Proposed Plan For English Trip

Financing the assembling of Canada's Rugby players at the point of embarkation for their tour of England in 1940 is quite a problem, and members of the British Columbia Rugby Union are going to get to work on that all-important question right away.

Speaking at yesterday's meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union, held in The Colonist board room, H. J. Ketchen, executive member of the B.C.R.U., outlined plans for raising the necessary funds, and asked for the endorsation of the local union, which he received.

Here is the proposal outlined by the B.C.R.U. The Rugby Union of Canada will be asked to approach the Dominion Government for a grant of $5,000, and each provincial union will be expected to ask its government for $500. The Rugby Union of Canada will donate $500, and will be reimbursed by gate receipts from trial games.

FORTY PLAYERS

Other matters dealing with the selection of the team, its personnel, coaches and routine items were not dealt with at the meeting. At the suggestion of some of the delegates the matter was tabled for one week.

Present plans call for the naming of forty players, twenty from the Western provinces and an equal number from the Eastern provinces, the eastern boundary of Manitoba being the dividing line. Two selectors, one in the East and another in the West, will be chosen to pick the forty candidates.

Speaking on the question of Canadian Rugby players, it was pointed out that those who play the Canadian code will be given an opportunity of gaining a place on the touring side, providing they have played one season of English Rugby. Twenty-three players and three officials will be named in the final party.

Trial matches are planned at Toronto, and the transportation of players to the Eastern city is another item that will cost considerable money.

While the tour will not be made until next year, officials of the B.C.R.U. expressed the opinion that immediate steps should be taken in the matter of financing the assembling of the players and other incidentals and for that reason have taken a progressive step in this direction.

Provincial union ratification of the scheme proposed will have to be secured, with the final matter being decided by the Rugby Union of Canada. One thing is sure, the British Columbia Rugby Union is going to do all in its power to raise the quota and feels that co-operation throughout the Dominion is assured. At least it is sincerely hoping so.

TRAIL TO FACE GREAT BRITAIN

ZURICH, Switzerland, Feb. 7 (CP-Reuter's).—Germany and Italy who on Sunday battled to a 4-4 tie in the world amateur hockey tournament, met again today and neither team was able to score.

Representatives of the Rome-Berlin hockey axis and tournament officials conferred and awarded the decision to Germany because of her better goal average in previous games.

The Reich pucksters go into the semi-finals in one pool against Czecho-Slovakia. Trail Smoke Eaters, defending the title for Canada, are scheduled to meet Great Britain in the other semi-final in the same pool.

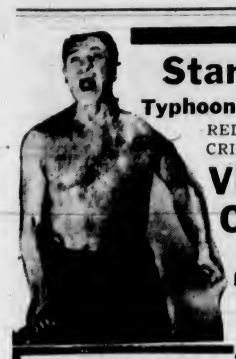

In the other pool, the semi-finalists are United States against Poland, and Switzerland against Hungary. Semi-finals start tomorrow.

THE CRUELEST JOKE

It was nearing Christmas time, and a Scotsman's family of youngsters sat around the fire wishing for the good things that Santa Claus might send them. The father listened for a time, and then said that he would go for a walk. Shortly afterwards the family was startled by a loud pistol shot, and the father entered looking very grave.

"What was it?" everyone exclaimed.

"Weel, children," said the father in solemn tones, "I grieve to say that Santa has just shot himsel'."

"PACIFIC LINER" IS DOMINION PICTURE

Vivid Drama of Life Below Decks Stars Victor McLaglen and Chester Morris

The vivid contrast between the boredom and sophistication on the passenger deck of an ocean steamer, and the inferno of human passions in the vessel's stokehold presents a striking background for RKO Radio's "Pacific Liner," in which Victor McLaglen and Chester Morris are co-starred at the Dominion Theatre.

The story revolves round the professional and romantic conflict between a husky chief engineer of a large liner and the ship's doctor, played by McLaglen and Morris, respectively, while Wendy Barrie is seen as a pretty nurse in whom both are interested.

PLAZA THEATRE "The Front Page," now at the Plaza Theatre, is a mile-a-minute comedy drama of backstage newspaperdom. Lewis Milestone, director of "All Quiet on the Western Front," handled the megaphone. The original play is by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, and was adapted for the screen by Bartlett Cormack.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Harriet Hoctor, famous ballerina appearing in The Great Ziegfeld, has worn out $65,000 worth of ballet slippers in her dancing career, an average of 600 pair per year at a cost of $5.50 per pair. The picture is the current attraction at the Columbia Theatre.

CAPITOL THEATRE Charles Laughton, who is said to deliver the outstanding performance of his distinguished career in "The Beachcomber," now at the Capitol Theatre, has attained his position of eminence on the screen in the comparatively short space of five years.

OAK BAY THEATRE Wallace Beery had to take whistling lessons for his role in "Stablemates," in which he is teamed with Mickey Rooney, because it was an important part of the role. Beery was once a singer, but he couldn't whistle. "Stablemates" is the current attraction at the Oak Bay Theatre.

Oak Bay Wanderers To Oppose Oarsmen In Play-Off Match

Senior Rugby Fifteens Meet Saturday to Decide First Half Winners in Barnard Cup Series—Intermediate Teams Will Battle for Leadership—Kick-Offs Set For 3 o'Clock

Championship of the first half of the Barnard Cup series will be at stake Saturday, at Macdonald Park, where the J.B.A.A. will oppose the Oak Bay Wanderers in a sudden death match for the honors. The encounter will be in the nature of a "rubber," as each team has defeated the other once during the season. Wanderers looked their best in the early season play, when they numbered the Carsmen among their victims. And then, just when they looked like the fifteen to beat, they were hit by injuries which sent Bill Brown and Brent Murdoch to the sidelines. Murdoch has since returned to play, but Brown will not see action again this season.

JACK FERGUSON

Bays, after suffering their first and only setback of the season at the hands of the Wanderers, have shown improvement in every start. Saturday, they will be favored to take the Oak Bay boys into camp and take first half honors in the Barnard Cup series. Oarsmen are present holders of the silverware.

LEADERS TO MEET

The intermediate spotlight will be thrown on the Navy-Wanderers battle at Admirals Road. Undefeated in the second-half chase for the Heyland Cup, the fifteens will be battling for undisputed occupation of the premier berth.

Sailors were the only club to defeat Coach Mickey Murray's Oak Bay boys in the initial series, and will be gunning for another triumph in the coming match.

Victoria College and Canadian Scottish intermediate fifteens will round out the Saturday Rugby programme by playing at the Victoria High School grounds.

"Bud" Pangman will officiate at the Bays-Wanderers match, and E. J. Symons will be in charge at Admirals Road. Ronnie McConnan will handle the whistle at the High School grounds. All matches will commence at 3 o'clock, fifteen minutes later than usual.

Plans have been completed for the visit to San Francisco of the British Columbia "Rep" fifteen early in April, H. J. Ketchen, member of the B.C.R.U. executive, told members of the Victoria Rugby Union at their meeting yesterday in The Colonist board room. Final selection of the players will be made following a trial match at Vancouver on March 18, when two teams, "Probables" and "Possibles," meet. The Victoria-Vancouver McKechnie Cup match at Brockton Point on March 4, will also be in the nature of a trial match, Mr. Ketchen stated.

NAMED MANAGER

Fred Cabeldu, Victoria, president of the B.C.R.U., has been named manager for the California tour. The coach, a Mainland man, will be chosen by the Vancouver Rugby Union.

Saturday, March 25, is the date set for the Rounsefell Cup final between club champions from the Vancouver and Victoria Unions. The match will be played in the Terminal City.

The local union took definite steps to give the intermediate players added encouragement by announcing that the championship team will represent Victoria against the Mainland senior "B" winners in the provincial final on the Mainland.

Coming as a distinct surprise to the members of the union, the resignation of Brian A. Tobin, secretary for the past two years, was filed at yesterday's meeting. Mr. Tobin is leaving for England, and the executive expressed their regrets in losing such a valuable official.

Bob Poyntz, a former player and more recently a referee, was named secretary.

SPENCERS WILL MEET CITY XI

Soccer Teams to Play at Athletic Park—Sailors Oppose Bays

Heading the Pendray Cup soccer race in company with the Hudson's Bay, Spencers will be gunning for their third straight victory tomorrow when they stack up against Victoria City at Royal Athletic Park.

Defeated by the Navy in their first cup match, Spencers came back in successive weeks with wins over the Hudson's Bay and the sailors, and promise to make a real bid to regain the silverware. For their match with the City they will be strengthened by Ponsford, a former member of the Nanaimo Gadabouts, at centre.

Reports along the local front yesterday were that Harry Barber, flashy left winger, will be in uniform for Manager Joe Bloom's City eleven tomorrow. Still struggling to break into the win column, the City team will be considerably stronger with Barber in the left lane.

Manager Pember of the Navy team announced last night that the match between the sailors and Hudson's Bay, previously scheduled for Admirals Road, has been switched to lower Beacon Hill. The ground at Esquimalt is rain soaked and heavy, and the change is being made at the request of the Navy management. Kick-offs are set for 2:30 o'clock.

Teams follow:

Spencers — Stewarlson, D. Gent, Cann, Bradley, Pearce, K. Gent, McMillan, McBride, Ponsford, Collins, Raeside, Richards and Byatt.

Navy — Mundie, McDonald, Hall, Sands, Robinson, Cockill, Geddes, Hutton, Ross, W. DeCosta, Walker, Murray, Sherlock, McGee and Chute.

Sign Fighters for Headline Mix Here Saturday Evening

LEFTY Gastman, hard-hitting southpaw battler from Port Angeles, and Paddy Binns, North Vancouver boxer and former featherweight champion of British Columbia, were yesterday matched for the main event of Saturday's fisticuffing programme at the Army and Navy Veterans' auditorium, on Wharf Street. Gastman recently won the call over the provincial lightweight champion, while Binns reached the semi-finals in the Golden Gloves tournament at Seattle. The boys are billed for five two-minute rounds. Seven other bouts are listed, with Port Angeles boxers providing the opposition for local boys in three events. The show is being staged by the Victoria Sports and Hobby Club, with Louis Callan as matchmaker. The first mix will start at 8 o'clock.

Hudson's Bay — Renfrew, O'Connell, Wyatt, Williamson, Kennedy, L. Speller, Fish, Preston, Fogden, Okell, Stofer, G. Fish and Gelling.

"Waiter, I've been sitting here drinking cocktails for three hours. Bring me something to sober me up."

"Yes, sir. I have your bill right here, sir."

Two charwomen met. "Hello, dearie!" said Mrs. Harris, "ain't seen you out with your 'ubby lately. Where's he got to?"

"He's had a seizure."

"As he, now?" said Mrs. Harris sympathetically. "They're terrible things them 'eart seizures."

Mr. Brown sniffed contemptuously. "It wasn't 'is 'eart," she replied, "it was the police."

LOVE COMES LAST

By Julie Anne Moore

CHAPTER II

Laura pulled her mind free of that old aching memory, thinking: She is over it, too. She's like that, either deep in despair or riding the clouds—never in between.

Nina rose, bent over and kissed the top of sister's head. "You're sweet to put up with me, Laurie," she said, smiling.

Laura returned her smile. After a moment she said, "Andy will be here in a few minutes, Nina. Do you mind starting the lunch? I'll be down as soon as I change."

"Your humble servant," Nina said, suddenly swinging a leg over the banister. "I haven't done this in ages. My recently acquired dignity wouldn't let me."

No trace of despondency lingered in the girl's bright young face as she slid down the railing and swung her feet to the floor. A tragic mood had vanished and no more than Laura did she realize it had vanished before the promise of her sister's earnest words: "When the right man comes along, you will fall in love and get married and have children and probably live to see your children choose husbands and wives of their own."

Andy Cooper played a tune on the doorbell, let himself in and stalked to the kitchen where the two girls were making sandwiches. He was tall and dark and his eyes were the most attractive thing about him. He grunted laconic response to Laura's greeting and began a systematic sampling of potted ham, cheese, sliced liverwurst and salami.

"Ask for anything you don't see," Laura smiled.

He nodded gratefully, tried a second slice of liverwurst. "No idea you were such a good cook, Laura," he said.

"Flatterer," Laura grinned. "Wait 'til you try my dill pickles—and my lettuce, fresh from the garden."

Nina was slicing bread. She said, not looking up, "I owe you an apology, Andy."

"That so?" He eyed the liverwurst again, but changed his mind and fished a handkerchief from his pockets. "What about?"

"For something I said in one of my moments of futile protest against the world. I shan't tell you what it was. You shouldn't be interested."

Andy sat on the metal-top table against the wall and lighted a cigarette. "Seems like a waste of time to go around apologizing to people without telling them why you're doing it," he said.

"It's balm," said Nina, "to a troubled conscience."

"Well, that's something, though frankly I'd never suspected you of having a conscience. What am I supposed to say?"

"If you wanted to be sweet about it," Nina replied, "you'd say, 'Oh, it was nothing. Nothing. Nothing at all. Forget about it!'"

"It's late, you ninnies," Laura interrupted, laughing. "If we don't hurry, the water will be icy. While Nina and I wrap the sandwiches, Andy, you can be putting things back in the refrigerator. Collect all the meat in one dish and be sure to cover it."

Andy got down from the table and undertook to carry out Laura's instructions. Watching him, Nina was secretly amused by his clumsiness.

"What a help you must have been in the kitchen when you were a boy, Andy," she teased.

"Men weren't allowed in the kitchen when I was a boy," he informed her.

"You didn't even help wash the dishes?"

The liverwurst disappeared and the handkerchief came into play again. "Dishwashing was a job for menials—and women."

"How quaint."

"I never thought so."

Laura banged her fist on the table. "Will you two stop talking nonsense and get busy!"

Andy feigned a nervous eagerness to be of service, but Nina said, "You're going to make some unfortunate woman a completely helpless husband, Andy."

"Some women," said Andy, depositing the covered dish of assorted meats in the refrigerator, "prefer the helpless type."

"Name one!"

"Well—there's Laurie."

Laura laughed, but Nina said soberly, "That's where you're wrong. I can't imagine Laura married to any man—but if she should decide to encumber her life, the gent would have to be one of these triple-threat husbands: a good provider, a genial playmate and a capable housekeeper."

Andy turned and looked across the room at Laura who, at the moment, was staring at her sister, curiously. Did Nina really believe what she said? Was it possible she had not discovered what their friends had known for many months, that her sister and Andy Cooper were completely in love with each other?

The same questions posed themselves in both Laura's and Andy's minds. And, unobserved by Nina, their eyes met and something reassuring passed between them.

They were in the car, threading their way through downtown traffic when Laura reminded Andy: "You had something to tell me, didn't you?"

"About Bartley Ford, you mean? Andy said. "I told you about all there is to tell, I think. His wife said he was arriving in Newbury sometime tonight and would like me to have lunch with him tomorrow."

Laura looked up at Andy's irregular profile. He was no poker-face, this big, quiet man she loved. The eagerness with which he was looking forward to that luncheon was too evident to mistake.

She was about to speak when Nina asked brightly, "Is this something I should know about? Just who is Bartley Ford?" Andy explained and Nina said, "A big shot, in other words. Swell! No chance of that luncheon turning into a little business conference, I suppose?"

Andy grinned. "If it doesn't," he said, "Andy Cooper, president, general manager, selling force and copy writer of Cooper's Advertising Service, is going to be a badly disappointed young man." Then he said, unsmiling, "As a matter of fact, I'm prepared to have him take me up on a proposition I made him when I met him on the coast last Fall."

Laura's eyes were on the road ahead and she did not look at him when she asked, apprehensively, "What was the proposition, Andy?"

"That he take over my outfit, expand and put me in charge."

"Marvelous!" This from Nina, with genuine enthusiasm. "Wouldn't that put you in line for something in his New York organization?"

Andy nodded, said with quickening interest, "In the first place, it would identify me with the biggest advertising concern in the country, bar none. You'd have to be in the racket to know what the name Bartley Ford means. He has a corner on the best brains in the business." He paused, "Then, as you say, Nina, it would open up a new field of opportunity, a chance to really amount to something, make a name for myself. And, finally—" he glanced at Laura—"It would mean a decent income from the very start, with plenty of opportunity to build it up to an impressive figure."

Impressive, certainly, was this summary of possibilities to Nina. Out of sheer sympathy, she cried, "Oh, Andy, if you can put it over!"

Andy grinned his appreciation. "And I think I can," he said, expansively. "I'm going to give Ford all I've got, anyway."

A. COWNDEN RETIRES AS LEADER OF CHOIR

Rev. J. A. Gaudette, chaplain of St. Andrew's Cathedral Choir, officially announced last Sunday the retirement of Arthur Cownden as cathedral choirmaster, taking the opportunity to express the universal appreciation of the faithful and effective service he has rendered for the past several years. In the near future, a tangible token of appreciation will be presented to him on behalf of the choir members.

The new choirmaster, Joseph Maguire, takes over his duties immediately. Mr. Maguire studied singing with Hamilton Harris, eminent basso of the Royal Manchester College of Music, and has had wide experience in oratorio and concert numbers in England, Canada and the United States. For some time he was the baritone soloist at the cathedral in Pittsburgh, Pa., and later for many years conducted the choir of St. Mary's Cathedral at Calgary, Alberta.

Stock Leaders Push Up Higher On Wall Street

NEW YORK, Feb. 6 (AP).—Paced by utilities, stock market leaders pushed up 1 to 7 points in the early part of today's session, but lost most of the advance as profit-taking battered the list in the closing sixty minutes.

Large overnight buying orders in the power group imparted strength to other stocks in the first hour. A number of new highs for more than a year were recorded. Dealings slowed to a crawl later, picking up a bit at the finish when offerings expanded.

The week-end announcement of the truce between Commonwealth & Southern and the T.V.A., ending a long-time feud, lifted Wall Street sentiment appreciably at the start of trading. The declaration of peace aroused fresh hopes in the financial sector that better co-operation between Government and industry was on the way.

Business news, generally, was on the favorable side marketwise.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was up 2 of a point at 50.6. The utility bond and stock composites hit new peaks, the former since October 24, 1938, and the latter since September 17, 1937. Transfers totaled 1,050,810 shares against 543,270 last Friday.

Under the leadership of utilities bond prices advanced generally Monday. Some power issues rose as much as 4 1-2 points. One of the day's oddities was an advance of 17 points by New York, Lake Erie & Western Coal 5 1-2's of '42 which were purchased at 50 in the second recorded transaction in a year. The first, last week, saw a drop of 66 points.

United States Treasuries, in general, gained from 1-32 to 5-32 point. Foreign government issues were uneven.

WHEAT FUTURES IN MOVE LOWER

WINNIPEG, Feb. 6 (CP).—Easier outside markets and continued absence of support caused Winnipeg wheat futures prices to move slightly lower in dull trading today. Mills showed only minor interest, and export sales of Canadian wheat appeared to be at a minimum.

Final quotations were 1-2 cent lower, with May at 62 1-4, July 63 and October 63 1-4 cents.

Liverpool closed 3-8d down in quiet trading. The downtrend was partially checked by the reported sale of two Australian wheat cargoes to Shanghai.

Chicago finished a shade under Saturday's close, while Buenos Aires remained about unchanged.

Cash wheat put in another featureless session. Pit-trade in coarse grains uncovered some speculative demand in flax, which lifted the price of that commodity nearly 2 cents.

MUTUAL LIFE SHOWS GAINS

Canadian Company Enters Seventieth Year in Strong Position—Year Reviewed

R. O. McCULLOCH
President of the Mutual Life of Canada.

WATERLOO, Ont., Feb. 6.—The Mutual Life of Canada has entered its seventieth year with an unbroken record of gain in assurance in force and in total assets, according to a statement presented to the policyholders of the company during the annual meeting held at the head office here.

New assurances paid for in 1938, excluding annuities and revivals, were $44,855,000 and brought the total insurance in force to $559,100,000. Assets were increased by $9,090,000 to $178,975,000.

From the operations of 1938 increased special reserves and surplus funds (excluding provision for staff pensions) by $917,729.26, to a total of $14,719,949.13. In previous statements, provision for staff pensions has been included in special reserves and surplus funds, and although they are not all contractual liabilities, it is preferable that they be excluded from surplus funds.

RESERVES INCREASED

Free surplus of $5,722,909.02 has been increased by $558,172.60, as compared with an increase of $379,914.04 in 1937; and the policy reserve adjustment fund has been increased $300,000 to $1,500,000. The purpose of this fund is to strengthen the company's policy reserves by changing the basis of valuation of the business written in the years 1870 to 1902 and 1926 to 1935 from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent. When this business is, in the near future, valued at 3 per cent, the policy reserve adjustment fund will disappear from special reserves and surplus funds and be absorbed in the policy reserve item of liabilities. This strengthening of reserve is entirely beyond legal requirements but it is the prudent course to take in view of the trend in recent years to lower interest returns on investments.

In addition to the policy reserve adjustment fund and the free surplus already referred to, the company has the general investment reserve of $2,000,000, a specific depreciation reserve on mortgages and sale agreements of $1,383,728.37, and has followed the practice of preceding years by setting up at the end of 1938 $3,500,000 as provision for dividends payable to policyholders in 1939. Thus a wide margin of safety is provided above all the obligations of the company in the interests of security to policyholders and continued stability.

The total assets amount to $178,977,222.71, an increase of $9,090,144.52, as compared with an increase of $8,780,870.37 in 1937.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

The president of the company, R. O. McCulloch, during the course of his address, said:

"If we could be assured of stable sound government, limiting our expenditures to our available resources, balancing our budget and aiming at reduction of our public debt and relief from some of the taxation which is crippling the current business of our country upon which our prosperity depends, I have no doubt that our national economy, through the working of natural economic forces, will adjust itself to the changed world conditions. Certainly, with all our wealth and resources of mine, field and forest, it is well within our power to maintain our national solvency, but we cannot do this if we continue to anticipate the revenues to be derived from the future development of these resources by piling up an interest-bearing debt."

Later in his address Mr. McCulloch stated: "It is our duty as patriotic citizens interested in the future of the nation to see that the same economy of management is observed in its fiscal affairs as we would apply to our own personal and corporate expenses."

Little Stories for Bedtime

Mrs. Quack Is Quite Hopeless

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Late in the afternoon Peter Rabbit hurried over to the Smiling Pool, lipperty-lipperty-lip. As he drew near he could see that Sammy Jay was already there, sitting in the Big Hickory Tree.

"It's all right!" shouted Sammy as soon as Peter was near enough to hear. "I found Blacky the Crow, and he says he will do his part."

"Is Mrs. Quack here yet?" asked Peter, quite out of breath with running.

"No," replied Sammy. "I hope nothing has happened to her."

"Farmer Brown's Boy has been here and scattered some more corn among the rushes," spoke up Jerry Muskrat, who was sitting on the Big Rock. "Have you thought of any plan to help Mrs. Quack?"

"Yes," replied Peter. Then he hastened to add, "I mean Sammy Jay has."

"Huh!" replied Jerry Muskrat. "Whenever did Sammy Jay plan anything but mischief? If Mrs. Quack has got to trust to him she is more likely to get into trouble than out of it."

Sammy started to scream angrily at Jerry, but just then he saw Mrs. Quack coming from the direction of the Big River and forgot his anger. Mrs. Quack came swiftly, for she is very strong of wing. She saw Peter sitting on the bank of the Smiling Pool, and she felt sure that the way was safe. But she had suffered too much in the past to trust anything but her own eyes, and so she circled around high in the air once or twice just as she had the night before. At last, sure that there was no danger, she flew down and splashed into the Smiling Pool.

"Have you found Mr. Quack?" asked Peter eagerly.

Mrs. Quack shook her head sorrowfully. "No," said she, and her voice was very sad. "There have been hunters with terrible guns hiding on the banks of the Big River all day and I've had to keep right in the middle of it. I've called and called until I haven't any voice left. I've about given up hope. I'm sure Mr. Quack was killed by those terrible guns. Oh, dear! oh, dear! What shall I do? What shall I do?"

Poor Mrs. Quack was so heartbroken that even Sammy Jay, who pretends that he isn't the least bit soft-hearted, turned away his head to hide a suspicious moisture in his eyes. Then Mrs. Quack began to talk again.

"One thing I did do, even if I didn't find Mr. Quack," said she.

"Have you found Mr. Quack?" asked Peter eagerly.

"I saved some other ducks from those terrible guns. I saw them flying up the Big River and I called to them and warned them not to go near the banks. If I hadn't they would have gone right where we did when Mr. Quack was shot. They wanted me to go on with them, but I couldn't without my dear mate."

"Farmer Brown's Boy has left some more corn for you," Jerry Muskrat broke in.

Instantly Mrs. Quack was all suspicion. She swam about nervously and seemed ready to fly at the least strange sound. "He has put it there to try to fool me. He thinks I'll stay around here if I find plenty to eat, and one of these times when I come back he will be hiding to shoot me," said she.

"You're wrong, Mrs. Quack," spoke up Sammy Jay, who had kept still an unusually long time for him. "You're dead wrong. If Farmer Brown's Boy has put corn over there for you he has done it out of the goodness of his heart. You take my word for it. You know the Jay family well enough to know we are naturally suspicious and not easily fooled. You take it from me as a fact that Farmer Brown's Boy won't hurt a feather of you. It took me a long time to feel sure, but now I know that Farmer Brown's Boy is all right. You take my advice and eat that corn and stop worrying."

"And Sammy Jay is going to help you find Mr. Quack. He's got the most splendid plan!" cried Peter.

Mrs. Quack shook her head sadly. "It's very kind of him to want to help, but I don't believe it's a bit of use. I'm sure I shall never see Mr. Quack again," said she.

Jane Dixon Says:

A WIDOW IN HER EARLY THIRTIES IS LONELY, DISCOURAGED, BROWBEATEN AND SOMEWHAT OF AN OUTCAST BECAUSE OF MANY LIES THAT WERE TOLD ABOUT HER

There are times when the best way to defeat cruelty is to walk away from it, to turn one's back and seek kinder, sunnier places in which to pursue happiness.

Dear Jane Dixon:

I am a widow, in my early thirties. My husband has been dead several years. There was trouble in the home where we lived with my mother, and while my husband was under the influence of liquor a near-tragedy happened.

Some months later my husband died, not as a direct result of the tragedy, but this may have hastened his death. For a while I blamed my mother for what happened and felt ill toward her, but now I realize I was wrong. She is quite old and my husband was often at fault.

He did not blame me, but his family did and they have said dreadful things about me, lies and lies and lies. People believed them and now I am without friends—even the few who did not turn completely against me act peculiarly.

No one knows how I suffered over his loss—we were always a loving couple through our married years. Since the time we were childhood sweethearts I never even dated another boy.

I am so lonely now, living with my aged mother, I have no social life whatsoever. Despite my trouble I still feel young in spirit. I long to find some way to earn my own living, but if I leave I must find someone to stay with mother. She has other children, married and in homes of their own, but they say I'm lucky to have some place to stay after what happened. I'm not thinking of marrying again—for who would want me now? Please give me some advice, some inspiration, for more and more I feel I can't go on, much as I despise a quitter.

Do you think I'm too old to use make-up such as rouge, lipstick, nail polish? Or to wear my hair in a new style? I always have used some make-up, but some folks around here do not like it and they never seemed to notice I used it until I became a widow.—Yours Truly.

Comment: You will be old and too broken in spirit to do anything for yourself or for others unless you stop listening to what cruel and selfish people say or caring what they do.

Try to find work—any kind of work that will earn you a living—however meagre. Work in another town or city would be preferable. When they find they can no longer use you and browbeat you, those who have as great a duty toward your mother as you have, will be compelled to behave like human beings or sacrifice the respect they believe you have lost.

Too old to improve your appearance? Don't be ridiculous. It is a woman's privilege to look as young and bright and attractive as possible at all times in all places.

SPOILT PICNIC

A bank inspector visited a branch in a small country town and was surprised to find nobody on duty. He went behind the counter, checked up the money, took down ledgers but still nobody came near him. Up he crept to the manager's office, peered through the glass door and spied the manager, teller and two clerks in shirtsleeves having a game of cards. He determined to give them a scare and sounded the burglar alarm.

The racket from the bell had scarcely died down when the barman from across the road arrived with four mugs of beer on a tray!

What Today Means

"AQUARIUS"

If February 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m.; from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

Carelessness, it seems, will precipitate a lot of trouble this day, particularly in the way of people forgetting packages in public conveyances and places, the mislaying of articles and letters, etc. Avoid being so interested in a conversation that you become oblivious to matters requiring your attention. Be on your guard against unintentionally slighting people by centring your attention upon one person. To get through this day successfully you must make good use of your eyes and keep mentally alert. Physical fitness requires a careful observance of hygienic rules, with a common sense application of them in both home and public places. Unsought for advice should not be ignored, for there is apt to be much merit in it. Past experiences, if heeded, may keep many a person from a mistake, so profit by them this day. Married and engaged couples, and those with favorable matrimonial prospects, should try to adjust themselves to each other's humor, if a conflict of wills is to be avoided.

If a woman and February 7 is your birthday, if you give in to any inclination to be ruled by pet superstitions you can make yourself and other people decidedly unhappy. You may often take too literally things that are said jokingly. You have a sense of humor, but there is danger of your suppressing it by being too serious-minded. If you want Lady Luck for a friend never go around looking for hard luck, for the anticipation of trouble brings it on. As an entertainer, journalist, publicity agent, public stenographer, buyer, sales representative, artist or musician you may win for yourself many laurels and a large income. Your matrimonial future appears to be secure, with no discernible barriers to keep happiness out of your home and heart.

The child born on February 7 generally has a remarkable amount of discrimination. Of a positive nature, this child knows what it wants and when it wants it. Through tenacity and industry such children usually succeed.

If a man and February 7 is your natal day, your self-confidence should give you sufficient poise to favorably impress your business associates and strangers. Through scientific, historical, or theological research work, as well as authorship, art, medicine, law, politics, manufacturing and selling you may make a fine record and a fortune.

That Body of Yours

by JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

CAUSE AND TREATMENT OF BOILS

The usual treatment for a boil now is to let it alone or perhaps apply a "drawing" ointment to cover the boil only and not the surrounding skin. The use of poultices on the surrounding skin is a mistake. A poultice that just covers the boil helps to draw the contents of the boil to a "head." When the boil is ready to open, a toothpick is dipped in carbolic acid and used to make an opening in the boil to allow pus to come out.

Where there is a "crop" of boils or a carbuncle (a large swelling or lump with a number of openings), no "home" treatment should be attempted and a physician should be consulted. However, when boils occur from time to time the underlying cause or causes should be sought. Treatment directed toward the removal of these underlying causes usually results in success.

"It consists of the removal of local causes of friction — collars, clothing, the removal of substances obstructing the opening of the hair roots (dirt, oil, pimples), the treatment of any infection — teeth, sinuses, the treatment of underlying skin ailments, acne (pimples), dandruff, hives, eczema, itch, and the treatment, when present, of too much sugar in the blood, anaemia, under-nourishment and the like. Some cases seem to be associated with anxiety or overwork. Increased fresh air and sunshine or a long holiday may prevent the attack of boils."

The thought, then, when boils occur from time to time is to try to find the cause among those mentioned above, and then undergo treatment by ultra-violet or X-ray to improve the tone and infection-resisting ability of the skin.

It should be remembered also that the eating of too much starch food—bread, potatoes, sweets—may greatly increase the amount of sugar in the blood and be a factor in causing boils.

DUNCAN BOARD'S BUDGET PASSED

Estimates for Schools in Consolidated District for Year Total $44,000

DUNCAN, Feb. 6.—At Friday's meeting of the Duncan Consolidated School Board the estimates for 1939 were passed. These show an estimate for ordinary expenditures of approximately $44,000 as against $41,000 last year. Of this sum, $18,365 will be obtained from grants and the balance from taxation to be raised by Duncan and the consolidated area of North Cowichan.

Permission was granted J. Alfred Flett, of Duncan, to take photographs of school classes. The offer of Cowichan Chapter, I.O.D.E., to donate a book to the High School Library was accepted with thanks.

Accounts totalling $3,913.59 were passed, and the purchase of books for the High School Library to the value of $65 authorized.

The supplies and repairs committee reported the installation of a lathe in the manual training department.

Trustee Burrows brought up the matter of speeding in the school zones, and the secretary was asked to interview the police with a view to securing stricter enforcement of regulations regarding traffic.

The very loving couple were disturbed by the interested glances of a little boy.

"Here's a penny," said the man. "Go and get some sweets."

"Don't want no sweets," said the little boy.

"Here's a shilling. Go and buy a nice new toy."

"Don't want no nice new toy," retorted the little boy.

"Well, what do you want?" said the now angry man.

"Want to watch," replied the little boy.
